Gangland Killers Sought

Former Murder, Inc. Big Shot, Albert Anastasia, Slain in N. Y.

NEW YORK (UP) — Detectives under direct command of Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy worked non-stop today to solve the methodical slaying of gangster Albert Anastasia and head off a possible gang war.

A beefed-up detective unit questioned about 50 persons during the night while a 15-state alarm went out for the two killers who, without a word, slaughtered Anastasia Friday morning while he waited to be shaved in a barber shop.

Officially, police theorized that gangland enemies seeking to take over lucrative policy and dice game rackets run by Anastasia killed the 55-year-old former "Lord High Executioner" of Murder, Inc. Others speculated Anastasia was killed as revenge for the bungled attempt on the life of underworld kingpin Frank Costello last May 2.

Costello Attempt Failure

Friday's performance on Anastasia was in direct contrast to the ineffectual attempt made on Costello by a lone gunman who attacked the gang czar in his apartment house lobby. Costello escaped with only a scalp wound.

The killers who worked on Anastasia were as cruelly efficient as he was reputed to be in the days when he allegedly performed or directed 63 murders without ever being caught.

They performed their mission in the barber shop of the Park Sheraton Hotel, the same hotel — called the Park Central then — in which notorious gambler Arnold Rothstein was murdered in 1928.

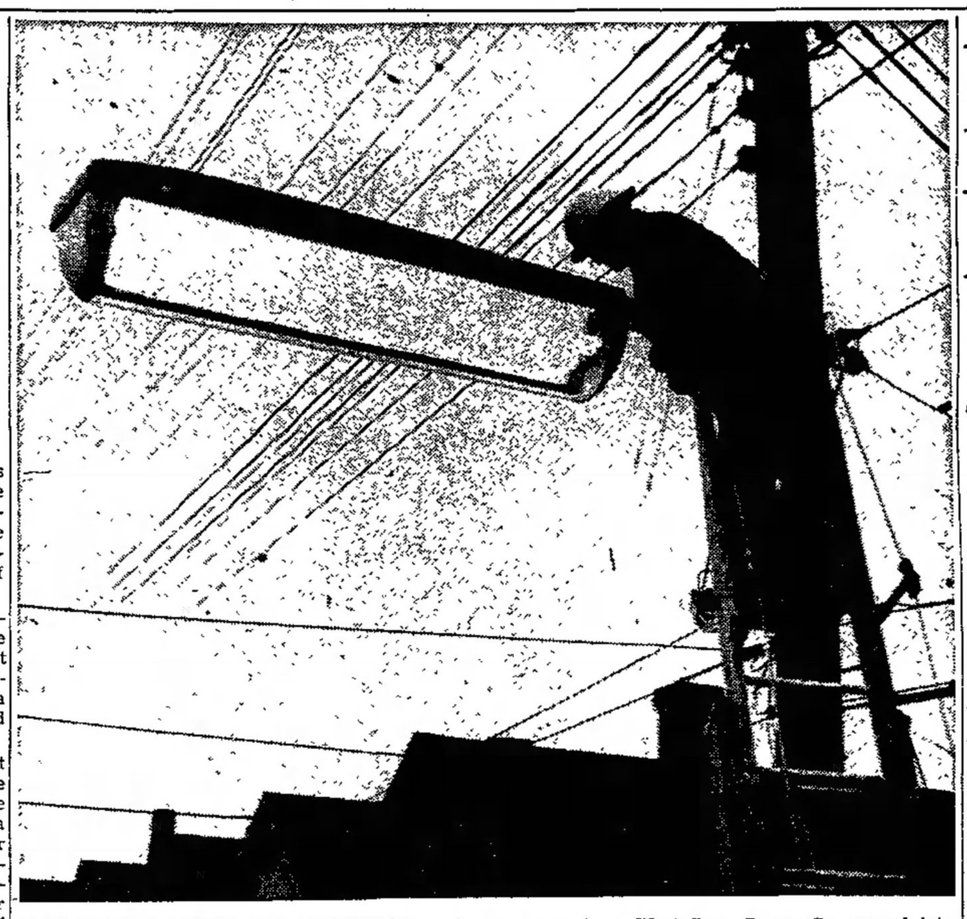
Anastasia's executioners wore black gloves on their gun hands and sun glasses over their eyes. Witnesses differed on whether the killers used scarves to mask their faces or worked unmasked.

Boasted Would Die In Bed

The balding, burly hoodlum who had boasted he would die in bed, was in repose, talking to shop owner Arthur Grasso while waiting to be shaved by Joseph Bocchino. He had $1,911.82 cash in his pockets.

The gunmen shoved Grasso and Bocchino aside without a word and, as 11 employes and customers looked on in paralyzed horror, fired about 10 shots at Anastasia from behind. Five hit the mark, grinding into Anastasia's head, back, right hip and left hand. The other bullets hit the ceiling.

Then the killers walked, not ran, through the same lobby entrance through which they had come and escaped, possibly into a nearby subway station.



NEW STREET LIGHTS FOR MONESSEN — Seven crews from West Penn Power Co. moved into Monessen today and began installing an entire new lighting system on Donner and Schoonmaker Aves., between Second and Sixth Sts. The 53 up-to-date fixtures will increase more than half the illumination provided by the present system. Alex Newell, company official, said the project should be completed before the Thanksgiving holidays. Each of the fixtures contain four flourescent tubes four feet long. This picture was snapped at Second St. and Donner Ave.

Winter Preview In the Area Over Week End

District residents will get a preview of winter over the week end, according to the Weather Bureau.

Even some snow is possible tomorrow.

The high temperatures today will range in the upper 40's. Tonight they will drop to the low 30's and perhaps dip below the freezing level.

The forecast for Sunday called for about the same type weather. However some rain mixed with snow might develop Sunday evening.

The cloudy and cold weather will prevail over most of the state, the Weather Bureau reported.

This morning at 7 o'clock, U.S. Lock No. 4 at Monessen reported a temperature of 33 degrees.

Speed Trap on Route 88 Stretch

Motorists better not exceed the 35-mile limit along Route 88 between Craven Hill and Monongahela Valley Country Club.

Two extra Carroll Twp. policemen have been ordered to duty to curb speeding in a measure to protect pedestrian and vehicular traffic on the highway.

Campaign Briefs—

County GOP Steps Up Local Meetings

Westmoreland County Republicans are stepping up local meetings and candidates' appearances for the final week of the election campaign.

On Monday, a "Candidates Meet The Press" luncheon will be held at Mountain View Hotel at 12:30 p. m. Editors of newspapers throughout the county have been invited to meet nominees for county offices and ask them such questions as they may wish to ask.

Greensburg City Republican Council will be hosts at a meeting next Tuesday at the Silvis Dining Room, Greensburg. The affair is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Two meetings will be held Thursday. One, a postponed candidates' tea, will take place at the home of Mrs. Joseph Storey, Clay Pike, Irwin. It will be under the auspices of the Irwin Council of Republican Women.

At 8 p. m. on Thursday, the Hempfield Township Republican Council will stage a rally at the Silvis Dining Room, Greensburg. All county candidates are expected to attend.

On Friday, county Republicans will meet at Celapino's Restaurant, Route 51 at 8 p. m. This meeting is being arranged by GOP and independent groups in Rostraver Township.

Tonight State Senator William Z. Scott of Lansford will speak at a $10-a-plate Republican rally at Mountain View Hotel. Senator Scott is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. Daniel J. Snyder, Jr., treasurer of the Republican County Committee, will be chairman of the dinner.

Groucho Stymies Government on $75,233 Question

WASHINGTON (UP)—Quizmaster Groucho Marx has stymied the Internal Revenue Service on a $75,233 question.

The government claimed the television comedian owed that sum in back taxes. But U.S. Tax ruled that Groucho should be permitted to deduct the profits from the sale of his "You Bet Your Life" quiz show as capital gains in 1950 through 1952.

Marx and his producer, John B. Guedel, sold out their partnership in the program to the National Broadcasting Co. for a million dollars. They paid the capital gains tax of 25 per cent on the profits.

The government claimed that most of the purchase price "represented compensation for services" of Marx and Gudel, hence should be computed as straight income.

In ruling in favor of Marx Friday, Rice found a potent precedent. Two years ago in a similar case the court ruled in favor of Jack Benny.

Railroad Workers To Get Pay Boost

PITTSBURGH (UP) — About 19,000 railroad workers in the Pittsburgh district will receive 12 cents an hour more in their paychecks beginning Nov. 1.

Five cents of the increase will be provided under a cost-of-living clause while the remaining seven cents is due them in a three-year contract signed last year by the railroad brotherhoods.

Steel Firms Ask Courts to Reject Plea

NEW YORK (UP)—The Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. urged a federal judge Friday to reject a government plea that would block thejr plans to merge.

Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel company, and Youngstown, the fifth largest, filed a brief with U. S. district judge Edward Weinfeld. In it they asked the court to reject the Justice Department's request for a summary judgment to prevent the merger.

The government has failed to understand the economics of the steel industry, the companies charged. Apparently the government's aim is to convert the anti-trust laws into a "bludgeon" for striking blindly at bigness, they contended.

This thinking that "because Bethlehem is 'big' and Youngstown is 'big' a merger of the two must produce evil consequences" is the government's theme despite the fact that a big economy demands large companies, and that competition will become "more vigorous" if the merger is allowed the companies asserted.

The Justice Department filed a brief Sept. 23 in support of its anti-merger motion. It cited the Supreme Court's recent decision in the Du Pon - General Motors anti-trust case to back up its suit.

Trolley Talks At Standstill

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Efforts to end the city's 13-day trolley and bus strike remained at a standstill today with no break in sight.

Federal and state mediators withdrew from negotiations Friday after announcing it would be "useless" to continue unless concessions were forthcoming from either union or management.

Some 2,200 trolley and bus operators walked out Oct. 14 to back demands for a substantial wage increase. Pittsburgh Railways Company's "final" offer of 16 cents an hour over two years fell short of the union's demands for a package increase of 36 cents an hour.

Allegheny College Janitors Are Killed

MEADVILLE, Pa. (UP) — Two Allegheny College janitors were killed Friday afternoon when their automobile went out of control while passing another car on a hill and struck two trees.

The victims were Ora Willey, 67, of Guys Mills, the driver, and Clarence A. Waid, 66, of Blooming Valley, near Saegerstown. They were enroute home from their jobs at the college when the accident occurred.

Two Rostraver Men Invent New-type Brake

Two Rostraver Twp. men have invented and patented a new-type hydraulic brake which may find wide-spread acceptance.

The inventors — John C. Beaumont and Michael E. Sapko — said they spent more than a year developing the brake. They submitted plans of their invention to the United States Patent Office last year, but had to wait until this month to formally receive their patent.

Now that the device has been patented, Beaumont and Sapko hope to put their brake into commercial use. They have already received several inquiries from interested manufacturers.

The brake is designed primarily for motor vehicles but may also be utilized on other types of machines where a braking, stopping or retarding action for a rotary moving part is required.

The new brake, according to its inventors, is smaller, simpler, safer and more economical than any braking device now in use.

It is a sealed brake, which requires neither shoes nor pressure expansion valves. The brake is oil-filled.

According to Beaumont, the brake has a minimum of moving parts which are subject to wear. The parts may be removed individually and replaced when worn out.

Beaumont said the new brake

Sputnik Back on Air Today After Night Of Radio Silence

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sputnik came back on the air today after a night of radio silence.

At Cambridge, Mass., Andrew Ledwith of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory said the Soviet satellite's signal "came through nicely this morning."

The satellite had made its rounds Friday night in silence, prompting speculation that its batteries were dying long before Sputnik's expected death in early December.

But its signal came through fine this morning, its battery power apparently regenerated.

It also was reported that a fourth mysterious object may be hurtling through space along with the Red moon and the rocket that launched it. The third object may be the rocket nose cone, but the fourth has not been identified, the National Geographic Society said.

The society, citing reports relayed to it by the Smithsonian Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., said the satellite may be visible over the United States for a few days yet.

Never Seen Again

But it said the rocket will never again be seen in America. It explained the rocket's twisting orbit would take it over this country only in broad daylight or night for the next 40 or 50 days. It is expected to plunge into the earth's atmosphere and disintegrate long before then.

The satellite, and the rocket, which is much easier to spot, can be seen only at dawn or dusk when they reflect the rays of the sun.

Sputnik's voice grew weaker on Friday and tracking stations said its radio signals were not heard through the night. The Naval Research Laboratory here and the Cambridge Observatory both said its batteries apparently had given out.

There were these other developments:

Russia Massing Weapons

—Russia was reported massing a mighty military array of weapons, including rockets, for the celebration in Moscow Nov. 7 of the 40th anniversary of the Red revolution.

—There also was continued U.S. activity in the missile testing field. A slim rocket was fired at Cape Canaveral, Fla., Friday. Defense Department spokesmen denied some reports that it was a pilotless snark bomber. Two intermediate range ballistic missiles were successfully launched at the Cape Canaveral testing center earlier this week.

—The Air Force announced it will begin soon operational tests of the Bomarc guided missile which blasted a drone bomber from the skies 100 miles out over the Atlantic last Wednesday.

Legal Victory Against Hoxsey Remedies Claimed

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government Friday claimed a legal victory on all fronts against "worthless" Hoxsey cancer treatment.

Commissioner George P. Larrick of the Food and Drug Administration said the government has been successful in all pending federal court actions against the "cancer remedies" dispensed by Hoxsey clinics.

Larrick warned the public, however, that such actions will not end the "menace" of this treatment since federal authorities can move only against interstate operation. It does not have the power, Larrick said, to stop a clinic in any state from treating cancer patients within that state with the "nostrums which comprise the Hoxsey treatment."

The FDA won its first case at Pittsburgh on Oct. 2 when federal Judge John L. Miller barred the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage, Pa., from dispensing its "treatments" and cancer pills to out-of-state patients.

On Oct. 11, federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff at Washington, D.C. dismissed a suit by Harry M. Hoxsey to ban FDA posters in U. S. Post Office warning against the Hoxsey treatment. Previously, the government won an injunction against Hoxsey at Dallas in 1953. Larrick warned millions of copies of false promotional literature are still in circulation; "much of it reporting cures of persons who are now dead."

Pittsburgh Coal Net Income Is Reported Down

Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. today reported the consolidated net income for the three months ended September 30, as $6,052,260 or 66 cents a share, as compared with $4,761,339 or 52 cents a share for the same quarter of 1956.

Consolidated net income for the first nine months of 1957 amounted to $19,169,799 or 2.08 a share as compared with $15,147,634 or $1.65 a share (before special credit of $2,419,059) for the same period of 1956.

Amounts stated for the comparable periods of 1956 include the operations of Pocahontas Fuel Co. Incorporated, acquired by Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company as of December 3, 1956.

Turn Clocks Back Tonight

Eastern Standard Time begins at 2 a.m. tomorrow throughout the Monessen district.

So you'll have to turn back your clock one hour tonight before retiring. Otherwise, you'll lose an extra hour of sleep.

That 60 minute gain in time will make up for the loss of an hour suffered last April 28 when Eastern Daylight Savings Time went into effect for the summer months.

At least 129 states municipalities will return to Standard Time tomorrow. About 36 additional communities turned back their clocks a month ago.

Soviet Spy Is Found Guilty; Facing Death

NEW YORK (UP) — Soviet spy master Col. Rudolf Ivanovich Abel was convicted Friday of conspiring to gather and send to Russia American atomic and military secrets.

Abel, 55, faces the death penalty under the federal law which resulted in the execution of American spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg in 1953.

Federal Judge Mortimer W. Byers scheduled sentencing for Nov. 15.

If he composed the death penalty on Abel, the spindly, stoic Soviet secret police agent would be the first foreign national to die in peacetime for spying in the U.S. Abel's court-appointed counsel James B. Donovan, planned an appeal afer sentencing. It was likely that the case would go to the Supreme Court.

Abel did not take the stand during his nine-day trial before a jury of nine men and three women nor did he offer any defense witnesses. His defense largely was an attack by Donovan on the key government witnesses offered by the prosecutor, Assistant U. S. Attorney William F. Tompkins.

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission will receive bids Nov. 26 for erection of median guard rail barriers on the superhighway from the Donegal to Bedford interchanges.

Will Talk To NATO Countries

WASHINGTON (UP—Diplomatic sources said today that President Eisenhower will go to Paris in December to push his plan for a free world scientific alliance.

In Paris, U.S. Ambassador Amory Houghton said the President will fly to Paris for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting Dec. 15.

In Washington, neither the White House nor the State Department would comment immediately.

But C. Burke Elbrick, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, scheduled a conference for today with French Ambassador Herve Alphand.

The Paris trip would be for the purpose of enlisting other countries at a NATO "summit" conference in the proposal, promulgated by the United States and Britain Friday, for consolidation of the free world's resources to counteract Russia's new missile menace.

Between now and then American and British officials will attempt to draft an "action plan" to make the super alliance a reality. They will work from broad principles laid down at the conclusion Friday of three days of urgent conferences between the President and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Methods Major Obstacle

But exactly how free nations could pool weapons, brainpower, and scientific know - how with safeguards against secrets falling into Soviet hands, loomed as a major obstacle to achievement of the alliance. The Eisenhower-Macmillan communique issued at the end of their talks did not spell out specific steps to unification.

It was disclosed later, however, that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has had a group working in secret for two months on the problems of mutual assistance in the nuclear-missile-space age.

Officials said if an acceptable plan could be developed for the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations, then it might become a pattern for cooperation among all the world's nearly 50 free countries.

An invitation for Eisenhower to attend a summit conference with NATO leaders Dec. 16-17 in Paris came as a complete surprise. It was made informally by NATO Secretary - General Paul - Henri Spaak, who sat in with Eisenhower and Macmillan at the White House Friday for 30 minutes.

Invitation A surprise

Caught off guard, the President and Macmillan agreed the parley might be a good idea. But they reserved a final commitment pending a formal invitation from the NATO council.

However, it seemed unlikely the President would refuse in view of the strong emphasis placed by the Macmillan - Eisenhower communique for doing something now to meet Russia's "totalitarian menace."

In their communique, the President and Prime Minister agreed that at the NATO meeting there should be attempted an "enlarged Atlantic effort in scientific research and development."

The President agreed to ask Congress to relax the bars against interchange of atomic information in order to allow American and other free world scientists "close and fruitful collaboration."

Schenley Park Is Visited by 'Flaring Object'

PITTSBURGH (UP) — For a time this morning, police in Schenley Park thought Sputnik had landed.

Officers assigned to the park detail hurriedly called headquarters to announce that a mysterious "flaring object" was descending from the sky.

When the object made contact with the ground, it exploded.

Upon closer inspection, police found it to be a weather balloon of a type used during World War II. A hydrogen generator and four-foot length of hose also were found.

Weather bureau experts said such balloons no longer are in official use. They theorized it may have been purchased from war surplus by an amateur scientist who let it get away while it was being inflated.

Jackaway to Preach His 'Farewell' Sermon

The Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway will preach his "farewell" sermon tomorrow as pastor of historic Rehoboth Presbyterian Church in Rostraver Twp.

His relationship with the church will end officially next Thursday by order of the Redstone Presbytery.

The Rev. Mr. Jackaway's pastorate was dissolved by the Presbytery following a special investigation into charges and counter-charges that political elements were working for his ouster.

The Rev. Mr. Jackaway told The Daily Independent today that he and his wife plan to return to their former home in Philadelphia, probably next Wednesday or Thursday.

He declined to comment on tomorrow's sermon, but added that he expected to remain a minister.

"This incident has not soured me," he commented. "I hope to find a church and continue my work in the service of God."

One of Rev. Mr. Jackaway's last official duties at Rehoboth will be to declare the pulpit "open." In accordance with the Presbytery directive, he will do that tomorrow.

The Rev. Mr. Jackaway served Rehoboth for the past eight years. He also filled the pulpit at the Sewickley Presbyterian Church.

He was a leader in "Operation Crusade", a group of Protestant ministers formed in 1950 to battle against rackets and corrupt government. It was his association with that group which led — either directly or indirectly — to his trouble at Rehoboth.

In January of this year, Rev.

Woman's Club Executive Board Plans Activities

The executive board of the Belle Vernon Woman's Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. C. W. Bierwirth of Speer St.

A report was given on the successful Fashion Show and Card Party held at Twin Coaches as a ways and means project in September. Mrs. Clifford Dickson gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. Thomas Flanagan. The budget for the year was discussed, and it was decided to sell 100 pounds of pecans. The members will begin taking orders immediately.

A letter was read from Westmoreland County Children's Aid Society thanking the club for a donation of candy and television slippers.

An invitation was received from Irwin Junior Women's Club inviting the members to attend their production of "Kapers of 1957", and tickets may be secured from Lois Ann Miller, 512 Main St., Irwin. It will be staged on Nov. 8 and 9 at North Huntingdon Township High School.

The club members will make a trip to Beck's Charter Oaks at Greentree on Nov. 12. Reservations are to be made immediately with Mrs. Thurman Reeves, chairman of the telephone committee.

Mrs. Bierwirth served refreshments after the meeting.

Girl Scouts Plan Party

A horseshoe circle opened the Thursday evening meeting of Girl Scout Troop 30, which was held at the Little House. Each of the girls repeated a scout law.

Dues and camp fund were collected, after which the girls worked on crafts.

Plans were made for a Halloween party on Oct. 31 and all members are to attend in costume.

Games were played and the meeting closed with the friendship circle and Taps. The leaders, Mrs. Helen Schwartz and Kass Swartz were both present.

WHAT'S WRONG HERE?

A charming picture of a lovely little girl reaching for a Bible. What could possibly be wrong with that?

Here's what!

1. The Bible is on the bottom shelf, hard to get at, which means the family doesn't use it frequently.

2. The Bible she's reaching for is written in grown-up language, too hard for her to understand all by herself.

3. The little girl is alone—and she needs help!

Why should the Bible be on the bottom shelf, and why should this little girl have to seek its truth by herself?

The Church stands ready to help your child—and you! It will help you to understand the Bible and its timeless message of God's undiscourageable love for you, your children and all mankind.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Says Reds War Scare 'Artificial'

By UNITED PRESS

An unconcerned Turkey prepared today for the general elections Russia has said would precede an American-inspired attack on Turkey. But Syria appeared to be suffering from a case of war jitters.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, in a gloves-off speech at the United Nations Friday, accused the Kremlin bosses of creating an "artificial" war scare along the Turkish-Syrian border.

Lodge minced no words in his indictment of Russia's meddling in the Middle East. The Soviet charges, he said, were designed to picture Moscow as the "savior of the Arabs" and eventually "reduce the Middle East to the status of the captive nations of eastern Europe."

U.S. Support Pledged

Lodge declared the United States will not be stopped "by threats or defamation" from the Soviet Union in "continuing to offer its understanding and support to those nations. . .threatened by the Soviet Union and whose independence the Soviet Union seeks to destroy."

"Let there be no question about our capacity to offer this support. We are strong and our allies are strong. The (U.N.) Charter is the most powerful grand alliance against aggression. It could well become the most powerful alliance the world has ever seen."

Western and some neutral nations diplomats congratulated Lodge on his forthright statement. He was given a rare round of applause from the delegates at the conclusion of his speech.

Russia Charges 'Prodding'

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko listened impassively throughout. He had charged the United States was "prodding" Turkey to attack Syria "immediately after" Sunday's general elections. He warned such aggression could touch off World War III.

United Press correspondent Russell Jones reported seeing no signs of any war preparations, defensive or offensive, during a tour of the Turkish frontier.

Observers in Istanbul were quoted as saying that if any incident does come, it would not be launched from the Turkish side of the border.

Reports from Damascus said Syrian regular and irregular forces Friday carried out extensive defensive exercises against an imaginary enemy from the north —Turkey. A large part of northern Syria was involved and participants included regular troops as well as armed civilian "resistance" fighters.

Fayette City Man Honored at Corning Glass

A Fayette City man has earned an award for his suggestion to improve production at the Corning Glass Works in Charleroi, it was announced today by John F. Culp, plant production superintendent.

Vernon C. Smith, 195 Connellsville St., an employe at the Charleroi plant since 1947, won recognition for a technical suggestion in connection with the machining of glass forming equipment.

Culp said the tentative award paid to Smith may be increased if the suggestion is adopted in other plants of the Corning firm. Smith has also been cited in the past for two other award winning suggestions.

According to Culp, the company has adopted the suggestion program "to recognize and reward employes demonstrating initiative and ingenuity in suggesting improvements in operations of the plant."

Abba Eban

Israel Ambassador To Speak Nov. 3 In Pittsburgh

Israel Ambassador Abba Eban will be the guest of honor of a fund-raising event promoted by Jewish leaders from 68 tri-state communities on Sunday, Nov. 3, in Pittsburgh.

One of the honorary chairmen for the event will be Judge David H. Weiss, Monessen.

It is hoped that more than $500,000 in Israel Bonds will be sold during the affair, which will be held at the Penn-Sheraton Hotel.

In addition to Judge Weiss, other honorary chairmen will include Judge David Weiner of Washington County, Judge Samuel A. Weiss of Allegheny County and Mayor Abe. I. Daniels of Connellsville.

Cub Pack Holds Halloween Party Here Thursday

A Halloween party was held for members of Cub Pack 7 at Trinity Episcopal Church Parish House on Reed Ave. on Thursday evening. The boys had their families as guests.

New members were welcomed during a business session. Cubmaster Andrew Macko assisted by John Pollack, assistant cubmaster; Charles Beaumarriage, treasurer; Charles Pokomo, John Stapleton and Frank Tallerico, committee men, conducted the induction. Richard Behrendt was acting den chief.

The new members are Timothy Mager, Danny McLaughlin, Tom Bachism, Glenn Kerns Jr., John Kootsouradis, Kevin Lhota, Robert Churan, Edward Krivoniak, Gary Galilee, Timothy Beck, Darrell Tallerico, Thomas Boyer, Robert Porreea and Philip Columbus.

Receiving Cub Scout awards were Randy Pokomo, silver arrow; Jack Pollack, two silver arrows; Thomas Tweardy, two silver arrows; Douglas Crusan, Webelo badge.

After the award program, costume prizes were awarded to; Peggy Johnston, prettiest; Robert Wortkowski, most original; Jack Stapleton, funniest; Andrew Macko and family, best family group.

Mrs. Phyllis Pollack, den mother of Den 2 was in charge of the entertainment, and after games were played luncheon was served by a large committee.

The next meeting will be Nov. 29.

Valley Lutherans Plan Observance

The Lutheran Churches of the Monongahela Valley will join in an observance of Reformation Sunday tomorrow evening at 7:30. The service will be held at Christ Lutheran Church of West Newton with Dr. Edgar B. Hanks of Jeannette as guest speaker.

Members of St. Paul Lutheran Church will take part.

Courthouse Dome Bids Received

The Westmoreland County Commissioners have received four separate bids from one company on proposed repairs to the two small courthouse domes in Greensburg.

The bids were handed to the commissioners at their meeting this week by John B. Flanagan, deputy county coroner, and were from the Overly Manufacturing Co. of Greensburg. They ranged from $11,900 to $17,200, depending on the materials used for the work.

Commissioners Board Chairman Robert A. Kilgore said the bids will be tabulated.

Repairs to the two smaller courthouse domes were discussed at previous meetings of the commissioners and finally bids were advertised after an Overly Manufacturing Company representative made an inspection of the domes which have been leaking. Water has filtered into and damaged plaster on several of the fourth floor offices. The work principally will consist of removing some of the gilded present terra cotta and replacing it. No major repair of the domes has been made for 50 years, since the court house was built.

Only One Bid

No company other than Overly offered to bid on the contract, although it was advertised.

Very little business came before the commissioners' executive meeting Thursday. The commissioners agreed to give 100 in county aid to the North Huntingdon Twp. School District for its annual institute. A request had been received for aid since this is an independent school district and holds its own institute. Grants have been made before to the district for a similar purpose.

The flu bug was responsible for the absence of County Road and Highways Engineer Ben R. Hebrank who was reported ill at home.

It was also reported that County Controller Leonard B. Keck is ill.

Attending the commissioner's meeting, in addition to Board Chairman Kilgore, were Commissioners Jay W. Kromer and Smith McKee, Jr., County Solicitor P.K. Jones and W. Everett Noel, chief clerk in the commissioners' office.

Jackaway

Mr. Jackaway charged from the pulpit that a politically inspired movement was agitating for his removal as pastor. He said he had been under increasingly severe "pressure" from within his own congregation as a result of his "Operation Crusade" activities.

Those charges, along with complaints from dissenting members of the congregation, led to an investigation by the Presbytery. A special commission was set up to probe the situation.

In March, the commission asked the Presbytery for permission to continue its "relationship" with Rehoboth Church "for the purpose of keeping in close touch with the development and progress of the church."

The commission at that time said Rev. Mr. Jackaway "has shown a lack of discretion at times from the pulpit and has been somewhat tactless," but added that "we find no malice in him."

At the same time, the commission said the pastor's critics "have perhaps misconstrued things which have been said, have been possibly too quick to criticize, but have been motivated by a deep concern for the maintenance of the peace and purity of the church."

In June, the commission recommended to the Presbytery that the "pastoral relationship" between the Rev. Mr. Jackaway and the Rehoboth Church be dissolved as of July 1.

After listening to the Rev. Mr. Jackaway present his case, the Presbytery voted to dissolve the relationship as o fOct. 31.

The Rev. Mr. Jackaway did not appeal the decision. He also observed an order by the investigaing commission not to discuss the matter publicly. However it was understood the Rehoboth minister strongly defended his actions before the Presbytery.

In recommending that Rev. Mr. Jackaway leave Rehoboth Church, the investigating commission contended that "neither Operation; Crusade nor opposition to Operation; Crusade is the cause of the disturbance."

a report on state progress under the Democrats.

In other meetings this week, the candidates will be in the White Eagles Hall in Latrobe, on Monday, at Sweeney's for North Belle Vernon and Rostraver township on Wednesday. Thursday night all party workers are invited to a huge rally at Zelmore's Auction Barn on Route 31. Friday night will be the annual North Huntingdon township rally, and on Saturday night a district meeting is set for Monessen.

Kromer announced that in addition to various planned teas and coffee breaks this coming week, the candidates will also attend some special programs for labor and party leaders. Kromer also announced that Joseph M. Loughran, who recently announced his backing for the entire slate of Democratic candidates, will attend most of the coming events and speak for the ticket.

Hits Loughran Action

Westmoreland County Republican candidates today directed some of their campaign oratory at a Democrat who couldn't win his party's nomination last May.

The target is Attorney Joseph M. Loughran, who bolted from the county Democratic organization to seek a nomination for common pleas judge. During the primary Loughran waged a strenuous and sometimes bitter battle against the party organization which he said was headed by Chief County Detective Arthur (Buddy)Turner.

This week Loughran announced that he was back in the Democratic fold. Since then, he has appeared at several rallies urging voters to support the straight Democratic ticket.

Loughran's action has evoked sharp criticism from the Republican side.

Wayne R. Donahue, the GOP District Attorney candidate, said many people voted for Loughran in the primary "as a symbol of rebellion in the Turner dynasty."

"Loughran has left his supporters in the primary high and dry," continued Donahue. "He will get a rude awakening on election day."

Donahue described Loughran as a "hatchet man" for the Democrats who "jumped his traces only to be put in his place by Buddy Turner."

Donahue also recalled that Loughran accused District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, who is now a Democraatic candidate for judge, of not prosecuting a case in eight years.

Smith McKee, a Republican county commissioner, observed that the GOP "couldn't afford" Loughran's support.

He appealed to independent Democrats to join Republicans in ridding the county of what he described as "Turnerism — one-man rule."

Loughran to Speak Here

Greensburg Atty. Joseph Loughran, who bolted the regular Democratic party in the last May primary election and ran as an unsuccessful independent candidate for Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court, will be the principal speaker at a Democratic rally tomorrow at New Italian Hall here.

Also appearing on the program will be Mayor Hugo J. Parente and other members of the Democratic slate in Monessen. The meeting is set for 2:30 p. m.

Loughran said last Tuesday that he will "actively support" the straight Democratic ticket in the Nov. 5 campaign.

Also on schedule for tomorrow is a "Good Friends" party at Blue Top Hotel near Perryopolis. The money-raising affair sponsored by volunteer workers of the Monessen Democratic organization will begin at 2 p. m.

Testimonial for Local Pastor

Over 400 persons are expected to attend a testimonial dinner for the Rev. Andrew D. Parvensky, pastor of St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church, tomorrow at 6 p.m. at the Slovak Home, 335 Schoonmaker Ave.

The affair will mark the official welcome for Father Parvensky, who assumed his duties here Aug. 1.

John Kossar, a church trustee and member of the Monessen School Board, is general chairman. Dr. Michael Duda, president of California State Teachers College and a member of the local congregation, will be principal speaker.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente, Monessen, will deliver the wlecome address and the Rev. George Durisin, pastor of St. Michael's Church, Donora, will be toastmaster.

Beaumont said the new brake will be cheaper to manufacture and much smaller than those now in use. Moreover, he predicted his brake will operate more efficiently for a period of about ten times as long as existing brake devices.

He also contended that the new invention will require a minimum of power to effect brake action.

Beaumont and Sapko are no newcomers to the inventing business. Both have worked on other devices, but they figure the brake idea is their best product.

Editorials—

Not a Job for Small Boys

DURING the Westmoreland County primary campaign last spring several readers of The Independent asked us why we weren't enthusiastically supporting the candidacy of former Assistant District Attorney Joseph M. Loughran for common pleas judge.

These readers pointed out that Mr. Loughran was courageously bucking the Democratic courthouse organization whose works we have long opposed. He was talking about a "racket-ridden gang" trying to seize control of the courts. He coined the term "Turnerism" as a one-word description of a loathsome political operation which he had personally observed over a period of years.

With all the fire of a reformer Mr. Loughran went about the county warning the people that this "rotten gang" had hand-picked its candidates for judge, that it had welshed on a promise to support him, that his former superior, District Attorney Sculco, was an incompetent who never did any work. Et cetera.

Mr. Loughran, we'll admit, sounded mighty convincing. And a lot of voters were convinced, enough to bring him within 2,000 votes of cracking the machine's slate and beating Mr. Sculco. It was a truly stellar performance.

* * *

BUT a little bird kept telling us that Mr. Loughran wasn't as sincere as he sounded. The bird told us that Mr. Loughran was considerably more interested in the political fortunes of Joe Loughran than in better government for Westmoreland County. And we managed to resist the temptation to recommend him to our readers.

Our little bird gets an extra ration of seed today. For he was so right! Mr. Loughran now says he is a "good Democrat" and as such he is for the "straight Democratic ticket", including his former boss who never did any work and the other hand-picked stooges of "Turnerism".

Some readers may be surprised and shocked by this development. We aren't. We have seen too many jellyfish squirming under the heels of political bosses.

Fighting corrupt and entrenched political machines is no work for men of little courage who put personal ambition above principle and conviction. And that's what Joe Loughran did.

Had he been sincere last spring there is every reason to think that today he would be a nominee for common pleas judge, perhaps on both party tickets, a leader who showed Westmoreland County the way out of political wilderness.

As it is, Mr. Loughran is just another small boy who got too big for his britches and has come whimpering back into line — and no doubt it will be the end of the line. And the cause of clean government and independent courts remains in the hands of real men who believe in it and will fight for it no matter what happens to themselves.

Showdown Ahead

GEORGE Meany, the determined president of the AFL-CIO, obviously is going to have no dealings with the Teamsters Union so long as it is led by the likes of James Hoffa.

As Mr. Meany promised, the AFL-CIO executive council has suspended the Teamsters Union, and it cannot be readmitted until Hoffa and some of his associates are kicked out of positions of leadership.

Nobody seems to think Hoffa will step out without a fight. And it is quite plain that he possesses the means to make a real fight of it. Mr. Meany no doubt realizes this as well as anybody.

It is not unlikely that a crucial showdown is ahead of the labor movement in this country, the kind of showdown that could determine how much freedom from government restriction and supervision unions can be allowed to enjoy.

This would be the time, it seems clear, for the real friends of organized labor, inside and outside of unions, to take their positions in support of respected and honorable leaders like George Meany. We can think of nothing more detrimental to the cause than for Hoffa and his kind to win this showdown.

Foreign Radio Ribs U. S. Over Soviet Sputnik

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Though President Eisenhower says he's optimistic regarding the science race between the USA and the USSR, his administration's monitoring service has picked up foreign radio broadcasts which show we are taking a terrific ribbing all over the world.

Mr. Pearson

Here is a short skit presented over the Voice of The Arabs from Cairo, ridiculing the United States over sputnik.

The program began with the sound of hammering in the background, the scene being the workshop where "Imperialist the Bully" is building an artificial moon to compete with the Russians. An American official asks:

"I want to know whether you have completed my moon or not?"

"Not yet," replies Imperialist the Bully. "There is a slight modification needed."

"You have made us look ridiculous to the world," declares the official. "Not only to the world, but also to our press."

"Oh, no, no no," answers Imperialist the Bully. "They are terribly wrong if they think so. Do they not realize that this American moon which we are making will be a very big one?"

"I have called all representatives of the world press: they are now outside waiting to see for themselves the wonderful artificial moon. The moon must rise today. They are waiting for me. Do not put me in a critical position."

"I will ask the workers in the lab to hurry," promises Imperialist the Bully.

He then goes to the lab, where a plumber, a porter, and a motorcycle mechanic are building the American moon, which is to be made of cheese covered with phosphorescent material."

"By the way, Imperialist," says one worker, "I have brought with me the phosphorescent material."

Imperialist: "What phosphorescent material? The moon is not a match.

"Are you not ignorant! The moon should be painted with thin material after being molded so that it will be illuminated while flying. The moon must rise today . . . . Tomorrow the press will be carrying big headlines: 'THE BIGGEST AMERICAN ARTIFICIAL MOON!' "

Imperialist: "Come on, boys, let us start it by hand. (Follows a sound of "beep, beep.")"

"Here is the American moon! The American moon calling! This is the best moon that has ever appeared on the market!' "

Note — Col. Nasser recently stated that he wanted friendlier relations with the United States, told American diplomats he was worried over Russian penetration into Syria.

Sputnik Censorship

How sour the Pentagon was toward the idea of space travel even as late as last summer is indicated by a secret order from the Air Force forbidding any frivolous talk on this subject.

This column has now obtained a copy of this order, which was inspired by Secretary of Defense Wilson's attitude that research in space travel was a waste of time and money. Dated July 29, 1957, here is a copy of the Air Force order, as teletyped to all commanders:

"For all commanders:

"Recent news stories which have described certain Air Force projects as space flight projects have resulted in unfavorable reaction at Air Force and Department of Defense levels. It is suggested that any speeches or public releases planned by you or your staff avoid the mention or discussion of space, space technology, space vehicles.

"No statements can be made which might in any way cause the national news media to describe valid Air Force projects as efforts to 'fly to the moon.'

"If in doubt as to the propriety of a speech or release, submit it to this headquarters for review."

GOP-Go-Round

The White House is not happy over a surge of criticism against the Eisenhower administration from Republican newspapers. That stanch GOP defender, the New York Herald Tribune, on one day devoted seven columns on its editorial page to critical editorials and columns against the Republican administration . . . . GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn is alarmed over the general political reaction to the sputnik. Secret reports are pouring in from GOP leaders, warning that the voters no longer like Ike. They blame him for letting the Russians get ahead of us in the satellite-missile field. This is one reason for Ike's plan to deliver fireside broadcasts. Here's what is happening in some key areas. . . Sen. John Bricker, always a big vote-getter in Ohio, is in the worst trouble of his political career. A combination of the farm issue and our satellite failure has hurt the Republicans in Ohio, local leaders say, until even Bricker's re-election is in doubt. Democratic Congressman Wayne Hays may challenge Bricker next year for his Senate seat. . . Up in Augusta, Me., GOP leaders are trying desperately to dig up a candidate to run for the Senate next year. Ailing Sen. Fred Payne, the Republican incumbent, will probably retire. However, no prominent Republican wants to run in his place, because the likely Democratic candidate, Gov. Ed Muskie, will be hard to beat. If they can't find a candidate, the nomination will go by default to ex-Sen. Owen Brewster, whom the White House doesn't love. . . Only current good news for the Republicans comes from Sen. Bill Jenner of Indiana, who claims to be in better political shape than ever. Reason is that Jenner has been anti-Eisenhower — now good politics in Indiana.

The Vicious Circle in Syria

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In his speech at the United Nations on Tuesday, the Syrian Foreign Minister, Salah Bitar, let it be known what is his real complaint against Turkey and the United States. Though he talked about armies, his real complaint is not that an armed invasion of Syria is in fact being mounted in Turkey. His complaint is that "certain countries" are being used as "bases for activities of subversive elements that are still plotting in Turkey against the Syrian government. They dream of setting up a Syrian puppet government that would be transplanted into Syria with the help of Turkish armed forces."

Mr. Lippmann

This complaint is that from some of the countries which surround Syria — presumable Jordan and Turkey, and possibly Israel, Lebanon and Iraq — agents with arms and money are being infiltrated into Syria, and that the whole plot is being organized and directed from Turkish soil with the encouragement of the United States. This is a good deal less than the military aggression which with the Syrians have been talking about. But it is quite enough to account for their indignation. For it stands to reason that the former Syrian rulers, who were ousted by the present Syrian rulers, would like to return to Damascus, and that Turkey, the United States, and all the other Western powers, would be glad to see them succeed.

What we have then in the Turkish-Soviet demonstration is a move to protect the present revolutionary government of Syria from being operthrown by the counter-revolutionary Syrians.

This struggle among the great powers, with the control of the Syrian government as the stake, is being fought on the assumption that there cannot be a truly independent and neutral Syria. In the eyes of the Soviet Union, a Syrian government which is not under its influence will certainly be under our influence. In our eyes, it is vice versa. Yet the one thing the Syrians themselves insist upon is that they want above all things to be independent and neutral. Because none of the great powers believes that they can be, Syria is a world problem.

One question that we must ask ourselves is whether there is any way by which Syria could be enabled to break out of this vicious circle of great power rivalry and distrust. For while the present Syrian government is not likely to believe it, the fact is that a truly independent and neutral Syria, and with it a truly independent and neutral Middle East, would be the best and the most that the United States and its allies could desire.

For we know that there is no decent future in an everlasting struggle for control of the weak Arab governments. That is the way to disaster. On the other hand, there is no future in appeasement which would deprive Western Europe of assured access to the oil of the Middle East. What we must want is an understanding and arrangement which will at one and the same time promote the independence and neutrality of the Middle Eastern states and will assure Europe's access to the oil.

May it not be that the principle of such an understanding and agreement could be found in a new arrangement about the oil — an arrangement in which the producing countries, the transit countries, and the importing countries would all share? There are signs on the horizon that the existing arrangements are going to have to be revised in favor of the Arab countries, and in that need may well lie the opportunity to inaugurate a new deal in the Middle East.

Some Advice for Parents

By VIVIAN SANDE

NEW YORK (UP)—This week in Manhattan:

The writer of the latest book for teenaged girls, published today, praises the younger generation and offers some advice to their parents.

"I believe it is time for us all to take a good, hard, searching look at today's teenage girl and find out what she really is like," said Enid A. Haupt, author of the Seventeen Book of Young Living, at a publisher's party in her honor.

The author who as editor and publisher of Seventeen Magazine has traveled all over the country talking to young people in an effort to learn how they live, think, feel and what they want for the future added, "I wish every mother and father would approach their youngsters with this attitude and then see how parent-teen relations would improve."

Mrs. Haupt, who thinks today's teen-ager may be the most maligned in history, says statistics and surveys show girls today are about five years ahead of their parents in growing up, and contribute much more to their own support than ever before.

The editor and writer said last year teen-aged girls earned over 4 billion dollars in part-time wages or allowances for home chores. She added that the teen-aged girl today also is an active partner with her mother in running the home, both by choice and necessity because more mothers of teenagers are in the working force than mothers of any other age group.

Mrs. Haupt concluded, "modern historians call today's teenagers the 'grown-up generation.' I call them America's greatest natural resource."

Soviets and Sputnik Are Alerting Free World

By HARRY R. PORE Jr.

Whatever else Sputnik, the satellite, is accomplishing as it spins around the globe, it seems certain to produce a general beefing up of the free world's determination to work together for mutual security.

President Eisenhower has already said that NATO, in addition to being a military alliance, ought to serve as an instrument for pooling the science, the manhood, and the resources of the free peoples.

As this is written Mr. Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan have their heads together in Washington, and the outcome of their meeting is almost certain to be a revival of the close British-American partnership as it was forged by Winston Churchill and Franklin Roosevelt to meet the challenge of Hitler.

This is an amazing development when you come to think of it. And it is one that we doubt the Russians thought about when they were planning their propaganda to capitalize on the Sputnik achievement.

The psychology of free and civilized peoples is something dictators cannot understand. Hitler certainly didn't. After his blitzkrieg crushed Poland in the fall of 1939 and after France proved such a pushover in 1940, Hitler thought that of course the British would not be so foolish as to continue this silly war against such odds.

The British Army, which was poorly equipped anyhow, had to leave most of its weapons on the beach at Dunkirk. On paper the Royal Air Force was not in the same class with the Luftwaffe. So there the British sat on their foolish little island, practically defenseless, and the mighty conqueror could choose his time to make them his prisoners. Hitler and his advisers felt sure the native good sense of the British would make actual conquest unnecessary.

Hitler Miscalculated

But of course he miscalculated horribly. He had succeeded only in presenting the world of free men with the threat that finally galvanized it into action. And in the light of history I believe it is correct to say that this action could have come about in no other way.

In these postwar years, troublesome and dangerous though they have been, the free nations, including America and Britain, have drifted apart once more. Their good sense has told them that they shouldn't and they have made half-hearted gestures, such as NATO, at keeping alive the mechanisms of cooperation. But by and large these have not matched the danger.

Critics are now blaming President Eisenhower for this, and to some extent the criticism may be justified. But I doubt very seriously whether Congress and the country would have supported the kind of effort and sacrifice that the situation has required. Indeed, the President has had to fight hard to keep such programs as mutual security from being torn to shreds, let alone seek to increase them.

But the Russians and their Sputnik are now doing what even the most alert and far-seeing leaders of the free world could not have hoped to do. As did Hitler with his blitz, his panzers and Stukas, the Soviets and Sputnik are confronting free men with the kind of threat that is necessary to make them do what their judgment has been telling them to do but what their own will has been inadequate to make them do.

Congress and the people will now certainly listen to the President's warnings. And the President will not need to trim and hedge his recommendations to accommodate the practical realities of domestic politics.

Eden Remark Recalled

Both in America and Britain there certainly will be less mutual back-biting and more sensible planning for the protection of the common ideals of the two countries.

On this point, I will never forget a comment made during an interview (it was really more of a monologue) which I and a number of other American editors had with Sir Anthony Eden in the British Foreign Office in London in the early spring of 1953.

Sir Anthony had just recovered from his first serious illness and was waiting in the wings, as it were, to succeed Churchill. And he was talking with us in rather rambling fashion about the world's affairs as he had known them in a lifetime of diplomatic experience. He came to this peacetime custom of the British and Americans of kicking each other around.

Maybe this isn't too serious, said Sir Anthony, and maybe it's an amusing indoor sport on both sides of the Atlantic to heckle and ridicule each other, keeping our precious rights of free speech and press in good working order.

But we both should keep in mind that in any serious showdown, inevitably we shall be on the same side and trusting each other as no two nations ever have trusted one another in human history. And just maybe, he concluded, it would be a good thing in these times if we we're seen more often in each other's company.

That's what the President and the Prime Minister are doing in Washington at this moment. And it is a safe prediction that from here on there will be a good deal less difficulty in bringing all the free nations to put first things first.

It is a paradox that we couldn't do this for ourselves, that the clever Soviet scientists had to do it for us with their fabulous little gadget.

National Affairs—

Ike's 'Chins Up' Rally Looks Like Vote Drive

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)— President Eisenhower's proposed "chin's up" rally of public confidence looks from here very much like the opening of the 1958 Republican congressional election campaign.

The President somewhat resents the reading of political motives into his activities as the elected chieftain of all the people. He is, nevertheless, the leader and spokesman of the Republican Party to whom its candidates normally would look for a coat tail ride to victory on election day.

The Republican Party, however, is not now noted for a state of normalcy. Abnormal is the word for the state of the Republican Party which in 1952 and 1956 elected a president by enormous margins but cannot wrest Congress from the Democrats.

Abnormal means markedly or strangely irregular, which makes it a good word for a little noted speech delivered last Saturday before a Republican audience in Alamogordo, N.M., by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.).

Key GOP Campaign Strategist

Simpson is chairman of the Republican National Congressional Campaign Committee which will supervise next year's campaign to regain control of the House of Representatives. He is a big man in the House and in his party. If and when Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., (R-Mass.) decides to retire, Simpson is the man most likely to succeed him as Republican leader of the House and as Speaker if the GOP ever again is able to win control.

In his capacity as GOP Congressional Campaign Committee chairman, Simpson told the New Mexican Republicans that there was no political future for their party's candidates in attempting to hitch a campaign ride on the Eisenhower coat tails. He counselled Republicans to endorse in their campaigns only those policies of the Eisenhower administration best suited to their localities.

"Not everything undertaken in Washington has met with general voter approval," Simpson said. "This is to be expected, and it is up to the candidates for Congress within the ranks of the Republican Party to make known their dissents and to work to change or to eliminate undesirable policies when elected."

Regular Republican

Simpson is a regular Republican as distinguished from a modern Republican, and among administration policies to which he aggressively objects is big-time government spending. He helped kill the President's proposal for federal construction of public schools. Simpson has no use for "spenders in government" and evidently believes Republican congressional candidates should repudiate the Eisenhower spending-tax program in next year's campaign.

Since the spending-tax budget is the foundation stone of all administration policy, Simpson would appear to be proposing a real bolt. The congressman does not see it quite that way.

"A Republican congressional candidate will not be breaking with President Eisenhower," he said, "if he confines his campaign to local issues and endorses only those administration policies which meet the demands of the candidate's constituents."

Perhaps not. Simpson's out-of-the-way speech, however, points up the hard choice confronting Republican congressional candidates in next year's campaign. They must choose whether to run on President Eisenhower's spending record or away from it.

Beverly Ann Beck, D.C.Summers Wed

Exchanging nuptial vows this morning, Oct. 26, at 11 o'clock in St. Leonard Roman Catholic Church were Beverly Ann Beck and Donald C. Summers Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McLaughlin of 402 Donner Ave. and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Summers of 701 Rostraver St.

The Rev. J. L. Conway officiated at the double ring rites before an altar, arranged with white pompons. Ferns, aisle crash, white satin bows on the family pews and a bouquet of white fall flowers on the altar of the Virgin Mother completed the church appointments.

Walter McLaughlin gave the bride in marriage. She was wearing a ballerina length gown of white lace and tulle. It was styled with a V neckline, long sleeves and a full skirt Her fingertip veil fell from a matching headpiece, and she carried a white Prayer Book topped with a white orchid with satin shower streamers knotted with lilies of the valley. Her jewelry was a strand of pearls with matching earrings.

Maid of Honor

Maid of honor and only bridal attendant was Barbara Dolfi of Library. She wore a ballerina length gown with a fitted bodice and full skirt with a white headpiece and matching colonial bouquet.

Leonard Valko served Mr Summers as best man.

Mrs. McLaughlin, mother of the bride, wore an ensemble of toast brown with matching accessories and a yellow rose corsage. Mrs. Summers, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pink rose corsage with a black and gray ensemble.

This evening the couple will receive their friends and relatives at a reception in the New Italian Hall. White wedding bells, flowers and streamers are used in the appointments.

Out of Town Guests

Wedding guests are from Library, Lawrence, Pittsburgh, McDonald and West Virginia

Mr. and Mrs. Summers will reside in their own apartment at 701 Rostraver St.

Both the bride and bridegroom attended Monessen High School.

Sacred Heart Junior Troop Holds Meet

The Sacred Heart Troop of the Junior Catholic Daughters of America met at the home of Gaetan Tetkoski on Wednesday evening for the regular session.

New members were accepted. They were Judy Bernard, Eileen Komar and Barbara Kennedy.

Janice Fabian conducted the business session and there were routine reports by Colleen Horan and Bonnie Treater.

A committee was named to select the charity project to be supported by the troop. It includes: Cathy Horan, Eileen Komar, Carol Klein, Barbara Kennedy and Gaetan Tetkowski.

Mrs. Louise Treater, councilor, then directed honor work.

During the social hour the members made Halloween masks. The prize for the most original was won by Sharon Gazy.

Linda Panetti, 308 Indiana Ave., was named as next hostess on Nov. 20 at 7 p. m.

Two Local Girls to Take Part in TV Show

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock when the Thiel College Choir comes from Greenville to present a program over KDKA Television Channel 2, there will be two local girls taking part.

Mrs. J. Duwall Is Honored at Shower Here

Pink, white and silver were the colors used in all the decorations and appointments for the post nuptial shower held on Sunday evening in the Parish House of Trinity Episcopal Church for Mrs. James Duwall. Hostesses were her sister, Mrs. Mary Nagel and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Duwall.

About 125 persons attended and the main diversion of the evening was dancing to Joe Cardinale's trio.

The many gifts were placed on a large table decorated in the three predominating colors. It was centered with an umbrella decorated in pink and white flowers. Other decorations were a silver sprinkling can from which fell shower streamers. Inscribed across the front of the table was "Madeline and Jim." Mrs. Duwall before her marriage was Madeline Biszaha of Reed Ave.

Table decorations were made by Mrs. John Duwall, Mrs. Rose Marie Pezzelle, Mrs. June DeMarco and Lorraine Mytryk.

Assisting the hostesses in the preparation of the food were Mrs. John Simon, Mrs. Desko, Mrs. Margaret Rozycki, Mrs. Michael Biszaha, Mrs. Margaret Gombos. Mrs. John Golomb, Mrs. John Resetar and Mrs. Robert Wojtkowski.

G.A.P.A. Young Ladies Lodge in Dinner Meet

The G. A. P. A. Young Ladies Lodge had a dinner meeting Thursday at the Park Casino for the regular October session. Pauline Georgagis, president, was in charge.

Covers were laid for 17 members, and Helen Messerotes was welcomed as a new member.

A jewelry party was planned for Nov. 13 at the G.A.P.A. Hall.

Plans were also made for the annual Christmas party to be held on Dec. 12 at the Ankara. Secret pal gifts are to be brought to this party. Secret pals will be revealed at this time.

A social hour followed the meeting.

Senior Girl Scout Troop 19 Plans Party

At a meeting of Senior Girl Scout Troop 19 held this week at the Civic Center plans were made for a Halloween party to be held on Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

The planning board will have charge of the entertainment, and all girls are asked to come in costume.

The girls are planning to baby sit on election day for mothers with small children, so that they may go and vote. Further announcement will be made concerning this project.

Mrs. Jane King is the troop leader.

LOCALS

The Confraternity of Christian Mothers of St. Cajetan Church will conduct a bake sale tomorrow in the chuch hall after each mass. Members are asked to bring baked goods between 7 p. m. and 8:30 p. m. today or early tomorrow morning. Members are also asked to make their devotions tomorrow between 1 and 7 p. m. in honor of the feast of Christ the King.

The Halloween party planned by Girl Scout Troop 23 will be held on Monday evening at St. Paul Lutheran Church at 6 p. m. instead of at 6:30 as originally planned. This will be the first affair attended by the new fly-ups and are all to come in costume. The troop is under the leadership of Mrs. John Stanley, Bunny Tesack and Jane Clingerman.

John Wolfe of Charleroi, paymaster at the local plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co., has been a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital since Sunday, and is in fair condition.

Regina Lodge Holds Dinner

Halloween decorations and fall flowers were used in the table appointments to provide a colorful setting for the first fall social activity held by the Regina Lodge of the Order of Sons of Italy. It was a ravioli dinner served on Thursday evening at the Sons of Italy Hall on Sixth St.

Covers were laid for 75 and serving was at 6:30 o'clock. A Halloween favor marked each cover and a decorated cake with tall white candles on either side was the centerpiece.

Mrs. Mary Bitonti asked the invocation and Mrs. Angeline Bosco, venerable, was toastmaster.

New members introduced were Mary Evans, Veronica Catanzaro, Viola D'Altorio, Sue Trozzo, Rose Phillips and Mary Icovangelo, who joined the group this past year.

Other Members

Others who joined the group but were unable to attend the meeting were Rose Soltis, Josephine Olkonen, Edith Giovenelli and Ann Colona.

The new members were presented with white mum corsages.

A hat parade was a highlight of the social hour. The members designed and wore original milinary. Those receiving prizes were: Mary Santoro, funniest; Mary DeLuca, most original; Elizabeth DeMatteo and Mary Sedory, prettiest.

Mrs. Catherine Angelina received the birthday prize and the door prize went to Frances Capozza. Guest prizes were won by Geraldine Elyanich and Viola D'Altorio.

After dinner there was a business session with Mrs. Bosco in charge. Routine reports were given by the secretaries, Mary Santoro and Jennie Bucci. Rose Tegnelia presented the financial statement.

Outline Program

Yearbooks were distributed and Mrs. Bosco gave the resume of the year's plans. Mrs. Mary Evans reported on the fund raising project of which she is chairman. It will be held in December and all returns must be made at the November meeting. The next meeting is re-scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 19, since the regular meeting date is Thanksgiving day.

The Christmas dinner party has been set for Dec. 9 with Mrs. Carrie Palm, chairman, and Eva Kerns, co-chairman.

Tentative plans were made for a February card party with Catherine Furio as chairman. The annual banquet was scheduled as an April event. Mrs. Mary Moncini will be chairman.

Plan Activities

Rose Tegnelia will be chairman of the May Mother's Day program. In June the women will make a trip to Philadelphia to visit the Sons of Italy Orphanage. They will also visit in New York. The picnic will be held in August with Mrs. Rose Phillips as chairman. Josephine Dustolfo is chairman of the telephone committee.

The committee in charge of the Thursday party included: Stella Mascitelli, Rena Guiducci, and Matilda Furio, chairman and two co-chairmen, assisted by Rose Bisceglia, Mary Bitonti, Frances Capozza, Yvonne Dellamalva, Angela DeLegge, Elvera Dimperio, Lena Duronio, Marie Imburgia, Amelia Moio, Thresa Parente, Mary Santoro, Mary Zurich, Settina Provenzano and Angeline Gigliotti.

Imagine you at your Hammond Organ playing carols on Christmas morning!

New Hammond lesson program guarantees
YOU'LL PLAY BY CHRISTMAS

You can be a good organist by Christmas . . . not concert calibre, but with enough skill to entertain (and amaze) your family and friends.

The new PLAY-BY-CHRISTMAS plan, unlike most teaching programs, concentrates first on playing. You learn HOW right away.

Thus, after only a couple of lessons, you can play a real tune, instead of scales and exercises.

You progress by playing songs. Organ playing needs less "finger technique" so there are no long hours practicing scales.

You get free practice sessions right in our studio . . . but they're exciting . . . you are playing real music, complete songs.

Discover your hidden talent in 12 fascinating lessons. No matter how slight you may think your musical ability is, the new PLAY-BY-CHRISTMAS plan can make it grow. By Christmas it can be satisfying and constantly challenging. It can make you a different sort of person.

You don't have to buy a Hammond Organ. All lessons and practice periods are given on our Hammond Organs. You pay only the $17.50 cost of lessons. If you do buy a Hammond before Christmas, that amount is applied to its purchase.

Send the coupon first thing tomorrow. Or drop in at our studio for information about our PLAY-BY-CHRISTMAS plan and a new LP record of Hammond music. No obligation.

New Play-by-Christmas Plan Includes:
12 complete lessons
All music and accessories
Regular free practice sessions
All for $17.50 (No registration fee)

- New program teaches playing . . . not theory.
- You practice by playing music, not scales.
- Learn and practice on our Hammond . . . no need to buy an organ.
- Total cost of lessons applied to purchase of Hammond . . . if you decide to buy.

'Hounds May Play Afternoon Tilts

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Midgets, Juniors Deserve Plaudits

Coach Al Romasco's Monessen Junior High eleven and the Jefferson Midget League team piloted by Carmen DeMarco deserve a considerable amount of credit for the terrific job both did in their respective classes . . . The Junior High for that magnificent win over Charleroi, snapping the Little Cougars' win streak and the Jeffs for the convincing way in which they rolled to the Midget League championship . . . Speaking of the Midgets why don't you show your appreciation for the wonderful program here by packing the stadium for the regular season finale Tuesday night and again for the All-Star game on Nov. 12 . . . the crowds (we think due to the flu) have not been too good the past two weeks.

Metro Smereczniak, of Fayette City, who helps train Gus Brickner for his swims, was injured this week in a mine accident at Monongahela, suffering a severe foot injury . . . Incidentally, Gus will be honored by the Charleroi Moose Sunday, Nov. 3 . . . This column's condolences to the Boots Salotti famiy, well known local grid official on the death of Boots' father-in-law Sisto Paterra and to the Taylor family (Bill is the town's most avid sports statistician) on the death of Bill's mother . . . A correction was hent in to this writer on the weight averages for the Johnstown line which appeared on this page earlier but actually the average was correct for there should have been one less 150-pounder and one more 180-pounder due to a misprint.

Cage, Grid Games Same Night Possible

Pity poor Armand Niccolai, Monessen High grid mentor . . . Just as he gets his Greyhounds rolling, along comes the flu and stops the next game on the card, either by hitting the 'Hounds or the opponent . . . With basketball season just around the corner and only four games in the record book for the footballers, it's going to be a mighty confusing situation with a possibility, as Monessen High cage coach Frank Janosik puts it, that there will be a football and basketball game on the same night . . . That would certainly be a novelty and would separate the grid die-hards from the dyed-in-the-wool basketball fans.

When Pitt and Notre Dame take the field today the Irish will hold a decided edge over the Panthers, showing 15 wins to seven for Pittsburgh, with one tie . . . The last time the Skyscraper U. boys topped the Notre Damers was in 1952 when Billy Reynolds gained more yardage than the entire ND backfield in pacing the Panthers to a 22-19 victory . . . The two rivals first met in 1909 with the Fighting Irish copping the duke . . . In 1932-33 and 1934 the Ramblers failed to score on the Pitts . . .John Michelosen quarterbacked the Panther eleven in 1937 that came from behind to defeat Notre Dame, 21-6 . . . From 1932-37 the Pittsburghers won five of six games from the lads of the Golden Dome.

CSTC 'Day's Day' Game on Air

Frank Buscanics, popular valley sportcaster will do a play-by-play of the California Teachers - Clarion game this afternoon when "Dad's Day" will be observed at California . . . George Gailey will do the color portion of the broadcast over the Charleroi station . . . The Leap 'N' Linx Motorcycle Club will hold its final event of the season Sunday at 2 o'clock at the track located on the Celopino Farm (Route 51) . . . An added attraction to the program which will feature trophy awards will be a motorcycle crash through a flaming wall of fire at intermission . . . A new sports writer has joined the valley fold, Vince Leonard taking over the sports desk at Monongahela.

Fraley Says Tokyo's Girl Caddies Perfect

By OSCAR FRALEY

TOKYO (UP)— This was back in Texas and a golfing alibi artist who always had an excuse when he flubbed out glared at his motionless caddy just before hitting his shot.

The caddy remained unmoving and, as expected, the golfer took a yard long divot and barely moved the ball. Whirling on the caddy, he screamed:

"That's your fault. I expected you to move and you didn't."

The guy wouldn't have had a prayer here in Japan.

All the caddies here are girls—and there are no finer ballhawks in the whole world. They never move when you're shooting, don't talk unnecessarily, never swing the clubs and, summing it up in one word, are perfect bag toters.

I won't say they never, never make noise. But this case is an exception. Because Old Fearless has a swing which would draw a hearty guffaw from a stone Buddha, as such I quickly got accustomed to the giggles.

Caddying An Art

But caddying truly is an art in Japan, where the sloe-eyed little sisters of the six iron make it a comforting, if not very rewarding, career. Apprentices must walk along with veteran caddies many weeks before they are permitted to lug a bag. All they do, in their impassive manner, is to stand by and watch until they finally are given their chance.

During this training period, they observe how their shagging tutors handle the caddying art. Which it is. For these mites of the midiron, most of them just about as big as Sam Snead's leather golf bag, are flawless on the fairway as well as from tee to green. They can "club you," which is a golfer's expression for telling you which club you need to reach the green, from any spot on the course. Hit the ball a half dozen times and they'll never miss—even though you might.

One of their cutest tricks is the manner in which they mark your ball on the green. In the cuff of their blue denim uniforms they each carry different colored bits of wool yarn for this purpose. Off the tee they are always out in front of the golfers and on a blind shot the custom for them is to run—not walk—to the best vantage point.

All of this, mind you, for 75 cents a round — although when it's raining the price is raised outrageously to 90 cents.

Jimmy Demaret's caddy in the current International Trophy and Canada Cup matches is an almond-eyed little beauty named Hiroko Ikenoya. James didn't trust her judgment—at first.

Bellmar Suffers 13 - 0 Loss

Two desperation-type passes gave California a 13-0 victory over Bellmar in a Dad's Night game witnessed by 1,500 fans last night at California.

Both touchdowns came in the third period, one on a 13-yard pass from Quarterback Ken Kulak to end Jim Amarto on play in which two Bellmar defenders let the ball get between them and at the last moment deflected it into Green's hands.

Almost Trapped

The second toss a 20-yarder from Kulak to Nate (Si) Green found the fast-charging Hurricane line almost have Kulak trapped but he broke loose and let fly to Green in the end zone.

Bellmar reached the California 19 in the second period for the only dangerous scoring threat by the losers who played a magnificent defensive game.

First down favored the winners 13-4.

The victory was No. 7 for California without a loss. Bellmar whose next foe is South Union, has a 3-3 record.

Three WPIAL Class AA Ils Eliminated

By UNITED PRESS

Three WPIAL Class AA teams were eliminated Friday night, leaving six contenders in the fight for the championship.

Duquesne walloped McKeesport, 28-14, Donora eliminated Brownsville, 12-7, and Baldwin ousted West View, 12-7.

Still in the race were Wilkinsburg, Uniontown, New Kensington, Hempfield, Clairton and Baldwin.

Hempfield hosts Wilkinsburg tonight, so at least one more AA team will be dropped from the running. A tie would knock out both.

In Class A competition, Derry ousted Mt. Pleasant Hurst, 14-6 Carnegie and Glassport, both contenders, face each other tonight at Glassport.

Montour, a Class B contender, ousted Avonworth, 26-0, and Aspinwall was eliminated by Oakmont, 12-0.

Jackets Meet 'New' Foe Second Week

WAYNESBURG, Oct. 26 — Another game in which the opponents will be playing "sight unseen" — without having scouted each other — is slated for the Waynesburg College Yellow Jackets this afternoon at Reading against Albright College of that city.

It was hastily arranged when Ft. Myer cancelled out on Waynesburg and Franklin and Marshall was unable to play Albright because of the flu.

BROWNS' BROWN - - - By Alan Maver

JIMMY BROWN, CLEVELAND BROWNS FULLBACK, MADE A FLYING START IN THE RACE FOR PRO ROOKIE HONORS— PICKED UP 89 OF THE 122 YARDS TEAM MADE ON GROUND IN OPENER.
HIS RUSHING SET UP FIELD GOAL THAT STARTED BROWNS OFF WITH WIN.

Mild Surprises Mark Big Five Encounters

Games involving Big Five Conference teams last night featured mild surprises in the rather easy manner in which Clairton topped Charleroi, 26-0, Monongahela's 12-6 win over Redstone and Donora knocking Brownsville from the unbeaten ranks, 12-7.

Summaries of the games follow:

Clairton - 26 Cougars - 0

Charleroi High School's Cougar gridders kept right on Clairton's heels at Clairton last night for the entire first half which ended 7-0 in Clairton's favor but the second half was a different story.

The final count read, 26-0.

Paul (Judge) Dickson scooted over following 80 and 73-yard Bear drives, Roy Hamlin went 29 yards on a reverse and sub halfback Jerry Smoyer took a handoff and took off on a 60 yard TD.

One of Dickson's scores came in the first period, two touchdowns crossed in the second and one in the final quarter.

Charleroi managed several scoring threats, once reaching the Clairton 16 and also making two other bids, but all fell short, as the Charleroians missed first string quarterback Ron Cosner, injured earlier in the week in practice. The loss snapped a Cougar unbeaten streak at 15.

Charleroi's next foe is Monessen at Charleroi Friday night.

Charleroi	0	0	0	0	0—0
Clairton	7	0	13	6	—26

TOUCHDOWNS — Clairton: Dickson 2, Hamlin, Smoyer. Extra oint: Clairton—Kopil 2 (placements).

OFFICIALS — Walsh, Rugh, Peffer, Seibert.

Donora - 12 Brownies - 7

Brownsville High almost rolled to its third one-point victory last night but instead bowed out of the Class AA race as Donora erased a 7-6 deficit to cop a 12-7 victory.

Donora scored first when Angie Dabiero went over from four yards out to climax a 60 yard drive in the first quarter.

A blocked punt by Brownie end Bob Breen on the Donora 12 set up a Brownsville score in the second period with Quarterback George Baker carrying over from the one. Art Bentley raced around end for the extra point.

Dragon Quarterback Davey Russell found end Hal Rice at the Brownsville 15 to set up the winning marker with Tom Urbanik going over for the tally from the one to cap a 34-yard drive.

The Brownies drove to the Donora 15 as the game drew to a close but was thrown back to the 40 by the time the gun sounded.

Score by Periods:

Brownsville	0	7	0	0	—7
Donora	6	0	0	6	—12

TOUCHDOWNS — Baker, Urbanik, Dabiero.

EXTRA POINTS — Bentley (run).

Wildcats - 12 Redstone - 6

Monongahela High had its first Class AA win of the season with a 12-6 defeat of Redstone last night at Monongahela.

Redstone's Ralph Grooms and Jim Penrod of Monongahela locked in a personal yardage duel with Gooms gaining 140, Penrod 114 but Grooms failed to hit paydirt while Penrod went over once.

Penrod scored on the first playoff the second period only to have the Hawks come back and tie it when Lou DiSimone went over from the one to cap a drive.

Jim Sweeney intercepted a Redstone pass in the third quarter then traveled 30 yards for the score to give Al Cree's lads the edge.

Score by periods:

Monongahela	0	6	6	0	—12
Redstone	0	6	0	0	— 6

TOUCHDOWNS — Monongahela — Penrod, Sweeney; Redstone — L. De Simone.

Rostraver Jrs. Get New Card

Rostraver Junior High officials have finally come up with a new schedule for their grid team after postponements held Coach Ed Hogan's lads to only two encounters.

It was announced today that the South Huntingdon game originally carded for Oct. 4 has been reset for 7:30 o'clock Wednesday, Oct. 30 with a special half-time show in honor of the parents of the players a feature of the game. The senior high school band and the marching Leopardettes of the Junior High will participate.

The Perryopolis game originally set for Oct. 9 has been recarded for 2:30 o'clock Monday, Nov. 4.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand for the South Huntingdon tilt Wednesday.

Rostraver, defending champions of the local junior high conference is unbeaten to date, having defeated Marion and Vernon.

Rostraver - Scotties Set for Tonight

Rostraver High School's game with Scottdale will be played at Scottdale tonight instead of last night as originally carded.

Rostraver officials could not be reached for comment on why the game had been changed to tonight when the original scheduled called for a Friday game.

Kickoff time is 8 o'clock at the Scottdale field.

Flu Cancels 21 College Games, Postpones Four

By UNITED PRESS

At least 21 college football games were cancelled off today's college football schedule by the flu epidemic and four others were postponed, a United Press survey showed.

Five replacement games were arranged, most of them matching two teams whose opponents were knocked out by flu.

No major teams were affected, although the Colorado College-Idaho State game was precarious. Flu hit hard at Colorado College, with 200 of the 1,000 students ill and 13 of the 32 football players on the sick list, but officials said they will play the homecoming game if at all possible.

Three Postponed Games Concerned; Tonight Efforts Fail

Despite desperate attempts by Monessen School officials to card a football game for the Greyhounds for last night after the Johnstown game was postponed at the request of Johnnie officials failed so the locals rest again this week.

Principal Henry Furio, and all other high school athletic heads tried since late Thursday when Johnstown decided it couldn't play, to schedule a contest for last night or tonight.

Washington, Freedom, Penn and Sewickley Townships were contacted but couldn't play for various reasons.

Afternoon Games

Meanwhile at an athletic council meeting last night it was decided to attempt to play two afternoon games, one with Brownsville on Thanksgiving Day if it can be arranged.

The other game would be set for November 23 with either Hempfield or Johnstown, whichever can make the arrangements.

The weather is too unpredictable at night," Furio stated, "so we decided that this late in the season it would be better to play in the afternoon."

While the negotiating is going on Coach Armand Niccolai is preparing the 'Hound gridders for the important game with Charleroi at Charleroi next Friday.

Perryopolis Bounces Back for 21-19 Win

Perry-Lower Tyrone, smarting from a 21-19 defeat by West Newton last week, trounced East Huntingdon last night on the winner's field.

Perry combined its best running offense of the year with a fine defense in overcoming the weak host eleven. Ron Stover sparked the scoring with a pair of six-pointers.

Vulcans Host Clarion In Afternoon Game

California Teachers gridders will go after their first victory of the season at ? p.m. today in a Dad's Day contest with Clarion Teachers at California.

Eight Vulcans remain inactive because of the flu bug and three others, Fleming Mosely, Bernard Roberts and Adam Vlanich, will be out of today's lineup because of injuries.

The game will be broadcast over WESA

Charleroi Game Ducat Sale Monday

Monessen High Faculty Manager of Athletics Armand Mori announced this morning that reserved seat tickets for the Monessen-Charleroi game would go on sale Monday night at 6 o'clock at the high school gym office.

The ducats will remain on sale for three hours, or, until 9 o'clock.

Each Monessen season ticket holders will be entitled to two tickets to the Cougar clash and they must be purchased by the season-ticket holder in person, Mori said.

Any tickets remaining after Monday's sale will be sold Tuesday night at the same time. Ticket price is $1.

Busso Wins, Meets Rosi at MSQ on Nov. 29

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UP)— Lightweight contender Johnny Busso, who beat a No. 2 substitute Friday night, will meet the "real article" in Italian Paolo Rosi at Madison Square Garden, Nov. 29.

Busso of New York, ninth-ranking contender, won a close but unanimous decision over Canadian-born Gale Kerwin of Valley Stream, N.Y., in their TV-radio 10-rounder at the Garden Friday night.

Kerwin, 22, substituted for Sonny Boy Williams of Washington, D.C., who was to have substituted for Rosi, the fifth-ranking contender. Both Williams and Rosi were kayoed by the flu.

Matchmaker Billy Brown said today, "I'll put Busso in with Rosi on Nov. 29 I'm pretty sure Rosi will be over the flu in time to train We'll know for sure Tuesday."

Young Kerwin made an excellent showing Friday night in his first Garden main event He forced the fighting in nearly every round of their see-saw contest, but he was floored for a count of nine in the sixth session by a right to the chin and he ate more than his share of Johnny's left jabs.

City Softball Loop Meets Monday Night

A special meeting of the City Softball League will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Raven's Club meeting room, Secretary Emil Crisi announced today.

Each team is requested to be represented at the important confab, Crisi stated.

Dodgers Plan To Add Dressen As Alston Aide

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The Dodgers front office organization today displayed the efficiency that made it one of the most successful clubs in the major leagues as it announced training plans, processed ticket applications and apparently moved to add Chuck Dressen to its staff.

Dressen, who managed the Dodgers in Brooklyn and guided them to a pennant, was reported on the verge of signing as assistant to manager Walt Alston. The fact that the Dodgers had conferred with Dressen was confirmed by both parties.

"I don't mind admitting that I've talked to the club," Dressen said when contacted at his home. "I'm very fond of the Washington club and I consider Calvin Griffith a good friend.

"But I'd like to be on the firing line helping run a club instead of scouting and handling front office duties. We haven't worked anything out definitely but we're not far apart."

E. J. Buzzy Bavasi, vice president in charge of Dodger personnel, branded reports that Dressen had been signed as "premature." But he and Vice President Fresco Thompson both said the club management had talked to Dressen but had nothing definite to announce yet.

Thompson, however, was definite in stating that despite their move to Los Angeles the Dodgers would continue to train at their Dodgertown camp in Vero Beach, Fla.

Jacks to Pace State's Aerial Attack on Orange

SYRACUSE, N.Y. Oct. 26 (UP) —Quarterback Al Jacks, ranked fourth in the nation in passing, will spearhead the Penn State aerial attack when the Nittany Lions meet Syracuse at Archbold Stadium today.

State coach Rip Engle also will stress a running offense with Dave Kasperian slated for heavy ball-carrying duties.

Engle said he was "concerned" about Syracuse, which he labeled a "much improved team." The Orange defeated Penn State last year, 13-9.

"They have a tough line and they outweigh us in the line. But we're hoping for a rebound after the Vanderbilt game. We made too many mistakes last week, and our pass defense was poor," Engle said.

The Orange tied Iowa State in their opening game, but since then have defeated Boston University, Cornell and Nebraska.

The two teams have met annually since 1922. The Nittany Lions hold a slight edge in the series with 16 victories to Syracuse's 13. Five games ended in ties.

Marie Foster Leads Demo Women's Loop

Marie Foster rolled a 152 single-game and a 334 three-game total to pace the Monessen Democratic Women's Bowling League last night.

Other top scorers were Lois Polach, Rose M. Grillo and Mary Jane D'Annibale.

The Panthers and Leopards copped the team matches.

Standings — Leopards 13-8, Tigers 11-10, Panthers 9-12 and Lions 9-12

Roman Battle Favored

BOSTON (UP)— Roman Battle will carry top weight of 119 pounds against 11 rivals today in the $10,000 added Colonial Handicap at Suffolk Downs. Deep Thought (116) and Double Bid (113) were the other highweights for the mile and one-sixteenth trip over the turf course.

Steelers, Browns, Giants, Colts Picked to Win

By EARL WRIGT

Four of the National Football League'u offense and defense leaders clash Sunday when the Chicago Cardinals play host to the Cleveland Browns and the Washington Redskins visit the New York Giants.

Cleveland, tied with New York for the Eastern Division lead, is a 2½ point favorite to boost its record to 4-1 by defeating the Cardinals (2-2). The Browns have allowed fewer points than any other team, 39. The Cardinals, sparked by Ollie Matson, lead the NFL in rushing with 694 yards.

New York, the defending league and Eastern Division champion, has allowed fewer yards than any other club, 753. The Giants have allowed only 46 points, a mark second only to Cleveland's.

The Giants are 11-point favorites against Washington although the Redskins (1-3) lead the Eastern Division in total offense with 1,352 yards and have the league's top-ranked passer in Eddie Lebaron. Lebaron has an average gain of 10.63 yards per throw.

The Baltimore Colts, tied with the Detroit Lions and San Francisco Forty-Niners for the Western Division lead at 3-1, entertain the Green Bay Packers (1-3) and are 10-point favorites. The Colts lead the league in scoring (127 points), total offense (1,422 yards) and passing (734 yards).

Detroit lays the Rams (pl-3) at Los Angeles and is a three-point underdog. The Lions scored a 10-7 triumph over the Rams at Detroit Oct. 13.

The oddsmakers follow the same path at San Francisco where the Forty-Niners are 3½ point underdogs against the Chicago Bears (1-3). The Forty-Niners edged the Bears at Chicago two weeks ago, 21-17.

In Sunday's other game, the Steelers (2-2) are favored over the Philadelphia Eagles (1-3) by 3½ points at Pittsburgh.

Wins Tourney

GRIFFIN, Ga. (UP)— Mrs. A H. Allen of Albany, Ga., won the Eleanor Keeler Golf Tournament Friday with a 54-hole score of 250.

Queens and Jacks posted Fabric Mixed Couple League's bowling last night as Joe Bafile set the pace.

Bafile showed a 193 and a 494 card followed by N. Smerilli, M. Bafile, S. Nuzzaci, P. DeJoy, P. Nuzzaci, B. Smerilli and B. Zingaro.

Standings — Aces 11-7, Jacks 11-7, Kings 9-9 and Queens 7-11.

57,000 Fans to See Tilt

By UNITED PRESS

The University of Pittsburgh football team was set for a rugged chore today as it faced a favored Notre Dame squad before an expected crowd of 57,000 at South Bend, Ind.

Pitt coach John Michelosen went into the contest with his first string left tackle a probable non-starter. Big Ron Kissel, a mainstay on the beefy Panther line, was laid up in Pittsburgh with a severe cold in his back. The possibility he might be flown to South Bend in time for the game was not considered a good wager.

Michelosen said he would start either Ernie Westwood, a sophomore from Clairton, or Ken Montanari, a junior who played for Plum High, in place of Kissel.

Gaydos Out For Irish

Among the Irish players sidelined for the game was guard Bob Gaydos of Donora. He was suffering from a knee injury.

Dr. Eddie Baker's Carnegie Tech squad met Washington and Jefferson in a top Western Pennsylvania game at Washington, Pa.

Right halfback Walt Majeski was out of the Tartan lineup with a broken hand. The remainder of the Tech squad was reported in top shape.

In series play, W & J has won 16, lost 10 and the teams have tied 4 times. Tech was favored to win today.

In other top games involving Western Pennsylvania teams Geneva was at Slippery Rock and St. Vincent traveled to Berea, Ohio, for a night game with Baldwin Wallace.

Teams To Beat

Geneva, with a 4-1-1 record, and St. Vincent, 4-1, were rated the teams to beat in the drive for the district small college football championship. Geneva ascended to prominence last week when it defeated previously undefeated Westminster.

Other games paired Westminster and Juniata at Huntingdon and Thiel against St. Lawrence in upstate New York.

In the state teachers league, Lock Haven was at Indiana, Clarion at California and Mansfield at Edinboro. Lock Haven and Edinboro are tied for first place in the conference standings.

Other Western Pennsylvania games today: Bethany hosts Allegheny; Waynesburg travels to Reading to play Albright and Grove City plays Wagner at Staten Island, N.Y.

Barons Making Move in AHL

Cleveland's Calder Cup champions, after a slow start in the American Hockey League this year, appear to be on the move now that their all-star line is finding the nets.

The Barons hustled to a 6-1 win over Springfield Friday night as their No. 1 line of Jimmy Moore, Fred Glover and John McLellan clicked for four goals. Cleveland, by winning its second game of the season, moved into a three-way tie for fourth place with Springfield and Buffalo.

In the only other game played Friday night, Rochester nosed out Providence, 2-0, to gain a second-place tie with the Reds. Ab McDonald got the big goal for the Americans early in the second period. Rochester added its insurance score in the final minute of play.

Business and Industry

Here's How Plymouth's Economy Run Affects You, Mr. Car Owner

It takes a seasoned professional to win in the kind of competition that the Mobilgas Economy Run offers, it is pointed out at the De-Soto-Plymouth firm of Frank's Service Garage, 122 East Donner avenue in Monessen.

Every car of every make entered the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run was a new 1957 stock model. Every car was carefully tuned for the Run and the cars were piloted by real experts in this exacting kind of driving. Naturally, the mileage they got is higher than the figure you can expect.

The way this race — and all previous Mobilgas Economy Runs — was judged is another area that should interest you:

Cars of different weights and engine displacements cannot compete on an equal basis. Such a competition would produce misleading miles-per-gallon figures. If miles-per-gallon were the only consideration, a motor bike could run away with first place. Obviously, other factors must be considered.

In order to give all cars a fair chance, the engineers used ton-miles-per-gallon as their yardstick — and as a basis for the official Mobilgas Economy Run prizes. This establishes a definite relationship between gasoline consumed, distance traveled, and weight carried. It is the only measure of gasoline economy that has any real significance to the engineers — or to you as an average motorist.

Now look at the results of the Run with the above thoughts in mind: Plymouth swept its field — First Place winner in "Class A," the division that included all the well-known low-price cars. As certified by the United States Automobile Club, Plymouth's official ton-miles-per-gallon led the entire "Class A" field.

Bear in mind, too, that Plymouth's winning mark was set using a V-8 engine with TorqueFlite automatic transmission. Several of the losing cars in Plymouth's division used 6-cylinder engines — supposedly more economical. But Plymouth beat every car in sight, 6's and V-8's alike.

But here's what Plymouth's victory does mean to you: The Plymouth you buy at your Plymouth dealer's is the same, engine for engine, part for part, as the Ply-Economy Run.

mouth that won the Mobilgas

The superior engineering that enabled Plymouth to run away with first place is built into every Plymouth. And that means you can expect economy that will save you real money in ordinary driving.

So before you invest a dime in any automobile, it's to your advantage to compare all three low-price cars. Compare them for economy. . . for beauty. . . for riding and handling ease. . . for performance. Then make your decision.

Only Plymouth dares to make so bold a challenge, because only Plymouth, of the low-price 3, has so many three-years-ahead features, yet leads its field in day-in, day-out economy.

Prove it to yourself. Your Plymouth dealer will be glad to give you a guest drive at your convenience.

1957 Plymouth models are as much as five inches lower than corresponding 1956 models. The wheelbase has been lengthened from 115 inches for all models in 1956 to 118 inches for standard models and 122 inches for Sub-take a chance with the cooling system of your car. It is doubly urban station wagons in the 1957 line.

The new car has the appearance of greater length which comes from functional styling. A broad hood, soaring tail fins and forward thrusting headlight brow all contribute to the impression of length.

In chassis design, Plymouth has accomplished its most significant change since the introduction of independent front wheel suspensions with coil springs in 1934. The feature is called Torsion-Aire.

In the overall re-design of the front suspension, coil springs have disappeared. They are replaced by torsion bar springs which together with other equally basic improvements in both front and rear, produce a new kind of ride and new "handling."

The completely new front suspension and steering system creates a remarkable degree of stability under forces of acceleration, braking and cornering. At the same time, according to Plymouth engineers, the vehicle is more safely sprung than ever before. For the first time on an American passenger car, ball joints are combined with torsion bar springs to create the unique combination of ride and handling characteristics. A new rear suspension incorporates relocated leaf springs, which contributes to the new better ride.

All of the 1957 Plymouths have more powerful engines than 1956 models.

Dudas Sunoco Is Winter-izing Many Cars Now

If you are a wise motorist and wise to protect the financial investment you have in your car, then you'll hurry and drive to the Dudas Sunoco Service station, 532 Schoonmaker avenue, and have John A. Dudas, the proprietor, or one of his trained attendants winter-ize it for you.

You can do your shopping in downtown Monessen while this is going on and kill two birds with one stone, for the Dudas Sunoco Service is right in the heart of the shopping center of the city.

First, you'll want hose connections and your radiator checked and then the proper amount of anti-freeze put in to protect you against a costly freeze-up. Don't important in cold weather to have it functioning right, to prevent an expensive garage bill if something should happen, and to give you better car performance.

Then get a famous Sunoco "A to Z" lubrication job which will prevent needless wear and tear on vital replacement parts of your car.

Then Sunoco oil in the crankcase to assure less wear on your motor, to lubricate your engine properly as you roll along.

It would be wise also to have the battery checked, and charged if needed or replaced if worn out. You want plenty of starting power on a cold day and a good battery is a "must".

Also have Mr. Dudas inspect your tires carefully. By all means have good tread for icy and snowy and treacherous driving days ahead.

Have your car winter-ized right now!

Irish-Pitt Tabbed Top Game; State-Syracuse on TV Screen

By UNITED PRESS

Although most college football powers face traditionally troublesome conference opposition, the best game of the day Saturday could be the battle between two fired-up independents, Notre Dame and Pittsburgh.

The unbeaten Irish, ranked fifth by the United Press Board of Coaches, want revenge for last year's 26-13 loss to Pitt, one of the eight setbacks in Notre Dame's poorest season ever. Pitt is smarting from its poor second half in a 29-13 loss to Army last week.

Notre Dame, a six-point favorite, will get added strength from the return of center Ed Sullivan and speedy halfback Aubrey Lewis after ankle injuries. Pitt, certainly no soft touch, could be the easiest opponent in many weeks for Notre Dame, which follows on succeeding Saturdays with Navy, Michigan State, Oklahoma, Iowa, Southern California and Southern Methodist.

In leading conference games:

Pacific Coast Oregon is a seven-point favorite over California in a game which could all but wrap up Oregon's first Rose Bowl trip since 1920.

Atlantic Coast Duke, favored for the Orange Bowl, is a seven-point choice over North Carolina State in a collision between the only unbeatens in the conference.

Oklahoma Heavy Favorite

Big Eight Oklahoma, No. 1 in the nation, rates 27 points over Colorado, the National rushing leader.

Big Ten Minnesota, upset last week by Illinois, is favored by five points over Michigan in their Little Brown Jug classic.

Southwest Texas A & M, No. 3 nationally, is an eight-point favorite over Baylor as it continues its march toward the Cotton Bowl.

Skyline Utah, the pre-season favorite, is one point over Wyoming, unbeaten but tied twice.

Ivy Princeton, tied for first place with Dartmouth, is a 14-point choice over Cornell and its sputtering attack.

Southeastern Surprising Louisiana State, one of three teams tied for the lead, rates only a one-point edge over Florida.

Southern Perennial champion West Virginia is favored by 15 points over scrappy William & Mary.

Penn State On TV

Regionally televised games will include Penn State at Syracuse, Michigan at Minnesota, North Carolina State at Duke, Colorado at Oklahoma and Washington State at Southern California. Syracuse is favored by six points; Washington State by one.

Other Saturday favorites:

Intersectional Army over Virginia, Auburn over Houston, Mississippi over Arkansas, Texas Christian over Marquette, Villanova over Indiana.

East — Navy over Penn, Dartmouth over Harvard, Yale over Colgate, Holy Cross over Boston University.

Midwest — Iowa over Northwestern, Michigan State over Illinois, Ohio State over Wisconsin, Purdue over Miami (Ohio), Missouri over Nebraska, Iowa State over Kansas State.

South — Georgia Tech over Tulane, Kentucky over Georgia, Mississippi State over Alabama, North Carolina over Wake Forest, Tennessee over Maryland.

Southwest — Rice over Texas, Texas Tech over Arizona.

Far West — Oregon State over Washington, UCLA over Stanford.

Ohio Oil Boom Under Way

Elgin J. Brandes this week reported the completion of his fourth successful Oil and Gas Well in a row in Eastern Ohio. All four Wells were completed by Hydrafrac, the new method which has been used in drilling over 1,000 new producing Oil and Gas Wells in Ohio during the past two years. The Hydrafrac score for Ohio's Clinton Sand field is phenomenal — 8 producers out of each 10 wells drilled. Brandes' group holds 35,000 acres under lease, including 15,000 acres in the area of the big Benedum Oil Well reported in the Oct. 7th issue of Time magazine as a 6,720 bbl. gusher. Brandes has seven more wells scheduled for drilling this year. Residents of Pennsylvania can buy interest in one well or several wells. Your investment is 100 per cent deductible for tax purposes — also 27½ per cent of profits are tax free. For complete details write to Robert Hollick, P. O. Box 416. Roscoe, Pa.

Lions Club in Meeting; New Members Named

The Perryopolis Lions club met at the First Christian Church on Wednesday evening for its semi-monthly meeting.

A 6:30 dinner was served by members of Class 10 of the church.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, J. Richard Palonder. Reports from the different committees were heard, and the secretary, Ralph Linderman, gave his report. The treasurer's report was submitted by Dwight Forsythe.

The speaker for the evening was John Riley, manager of the Uniontown office of the Social Security Administration, and his subject was "You and Social Security."

A director's meeting was held after the regular meeting.

On Tuesday evening, members of the Perryopolis Lions club motored to Irwin, to attend a meeting at the Ben Gross Restaurant for the annual District 14-E banquet.

Finis E. Davis, Louisville, Ky., third vice-president of Lions International, was the speaker.

More than 400 attended the meeting. A feature was the induction of new members from the Perryopolis area.

Those from the local area inducted were Elmer Erdley, Howard England, Felix Kaworsky, Gabriel Nasser.

Also from the Perry club were J. Richard Palonder, J. M. Palonder, Mac Peacock and Percy Russell.

Women of Moose To Meet Monday

Women of the Moose, Perryopolis Chapter 1055, will meet at their regular session on Monday at the firehouse at 8 p.m.

Highlighting the evening will be a Halloween party. Senior regent Nellie Bowden wants all co-workers to bring a guest and to mask. Chaplain Olive Anderson is chairman of the party, and there will be a lunch. All co-workers are asked to bring a gift for the fish pond.

The executive board will meet at 7:30.

Local Youths at Livestock Show

Attending the Pittsburgh Junior Livestock show this week were two members of local 4-H clubs.

Robert Brown, Vanderbilt, R. D., exhibited lambs, and Dorothy Ann Mosier, Vanderbilt, R. D., showed her champion 4-H steer.

The Livestock show was held in the stockyards in Pittsburgh. An auction sale was held after the stock was exhibited.

Shirley Masch Crowned Queen

Miss Shirley Masch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Masch of Perryopolis, was crowned queen at last night's football game between Perry-Lower Tyrone Joint High and East Huntington.

The affair took place at half-time, and Shirley was crowned by the Student Council President, Rosemary Field.

Shirley had 12 attendants at the ceremony, students from the school. Dad's night was also celebrated at the game.

Tonight, a dance honoring the queen will be held in the Sons of Italy Hall from 8 o'clock until midnight. The semi-formal affair will feature an orchestra.

Shirley is a senior, in the Perry-Lower Tyrone schools.

Attends Meeting At Mt. Lebanon

Verna Bindas, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Perryopolis attended the fall meeting held at the Mt. Lebanon Golf Club recently.

This was District 12 of the Federation of BPW, and a luncheon was served. Plans for the year were presented and reports of committee chairman given.

The Peers Twp. Club was host for the affair, and presiding at the business meeting was Mrs. Martha Nicholl, district director.

Zoning Hearings Here on Nov. 4

A public hearings on the proposed zoning ordinance for the borough of Perryopolis is scheduled for Nov. 4 at 8 p.m. in the basement of the First Christian Church.

This meeting is for the benefit of the public, and is one of several to give all persons interested in boundaries, etc., an opportunity to present their views.

J. Rist Stimmel is planning and zoning committee chairman.

Mrs. Chads Chalfant, Perryopolis, is a patient in the West Penn Hospital, Pittsburgh, for tests and observation.

Mrs. Melvin Bell and Mrs. Frank Godla of Perryopolis spent the day in Pittsburgh.

SCALE WATCHING IS AN EXCELLENT HABIT
Prescription Pharmacists

A scale in every home might be very beneficial to personal health, for weight is an excellent guide to future well-being —and should be watched carefully.

There is no short-cut to weight control. With each person, it is an individual problem, and subject to personal discipline.

Normal living and eating are likely the keys to health. If over-weight or under-weight, see your Doctor. He is the one qualified to determine the necessity and prescribe for such treatment.

Only with his guidance should you engage in any weight control project.

Your Health—

Blow Top Privately; No Ulcers

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

It's a good idea to let off some steam every time you feel the need. It might keep you from developing an ulcer.

Of course, exploding at the wrong moment to the wrong person also might very well lead you to the unemployment line or the divorce court. But by wisely choosing the proper person to tell your troubles to, you generally can avert any serious consequences.

Emotional stress such as resentment makes the juices secreted by your stomach stronger. This can, and often does, lead to formation of ulcers. Therefore, a simple way to prevent this from happening is to get rid of any pent-up anger.

Say the boss bawls you out. Okay, you don't want to talk back to him, but you've got to sound off to somebody. Why not try your spouse?

Let her know what goes on in the office or plant, especially when something goes wrong. Most wives would be willing to share their husbands' problems if they were only given the chance.

If this still doesn't ease your tension, you can take it out — secretly — on the boss himself.

Get a picture of the boss or even the building where you work. Then go down to the basement or to your recreation room, hang the picture on the wall and hurl darts at it.

A couple of bullseyes and your anger probably will subside.

If this isn't practical, try whacking a golf ball or baseball, anything (but not your wife) that will help you "get it out of your system."

The perfect solution is to sound off when the disturbing factor occurs.

Some of your more fortunate employes or employers can get away with it. But for the average guy, the one who can't say much without danger of losing his job, the best plan is to take your problem home where you can blow your top in private.

Although the female Indian elephants have very small tusks, those of African elephants are large and are used extensively in feeding.

Rita Hayworth Can't Enjoy Own Pictures

By RON BURTON

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Actors and actresses can't enjoy their own performances because the experience is about like repeating a joke over and over again.

Anyhow, that's the way Rita Hayworth feels about it. She never enjoys her own pictures and says that her friends in the picture business agree that they, too, have difficulty appreciating their own performances.

"They try to evaluate their work," she said. "Then they're in the position of a person who retells a joke. The first time it's repeated, it's not so bad. But after several repetitions, it sure can become pale.

"Repeating lines over and over again before the cameras takes away from my picture all the suspense that puts over scenes with audiences. After you've worked on a scene for hours — and we do with some scenes — there isn't much freshness left to the subject matter."

Miss Hayworth said actors are very much like other people in most ways, and being one's own worst critic is just one of those ways.

Wrong Guesses

"When actors see one of their own pictures they always feel they could have done much better if given another chance," she explained. "I guess most actors are frustrated directors, anyway. They're also probably the world's most active backseat drivers."

The latest self-evaluation Miss Hayworth is not making is of her role in "Pal Joey," a musical production for Columbia. She thinks that her previous observations are not upset and therefore she isn't going to say how she feels about her own work. She thinks everyone else in the picture did a fine job — but nothing said about her.

She added that working over one scene for hours makes one numb and not particularly overjoyed.

"I sat on a table in a scene for 'Gilda' and sang a torchy song," she recalled. "We worked on it for hours until I was almost blue in the face. The director wanted perfect authenticity. When the scene was finally over, I thought it was the least important one in the picture — and yet it caught on and so did the song — 'Put the Blame on Mame.'"

ABC-TV Schedule Changes

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim...

ABC-TV is revamping its Sunday night schedule. A filmed mystery, "Scotland Yard," will be shoved into an evening spot beginning Nov. 17. There's a good chance, too, that "O.S.S.," currently a Thursday nighter will be switched into a Sunday berth.

Bing Crosby's decision to take on a one-hour CBS-TV spec Dec. 11—it'll pre-empt "Armstrong Circle Theatre"—meant a postponement of his CBS radio show scheduled to start this Sunday. It also meant a new lease on life for the funny Stan Freberg radio show Crosby was to replace.

CBS-TV's upcoming "Seven Lively Arts" ditched plans to explore the Lena Horne musical, "Jamaica" — it ran into union troubles... Producer Paul Gregory wants Kate Hepburn to play the lead in his February CBS-TV spec, "Mary Poppins."

Arthur Godfrey shrugged off efforts by CBS-TV's "G.E. Theatre" to lure him into a dramatic role for its upcoming. "Kid at the Stick," a play that centers in an airport control tower—Art Linkletter finally got the job.

Sam Levenson will drop in for a surprise visit on "Let's Take A Trip" Nov. 10 when the CBS-TV show visits a progressive school ...Lisa Kirk's definition of a square deal: Guy Lombardo playing cards with Lawrence Welk.

The New York World-Telegram and Sun will be the subject of an "Armstrong Circle Theatre" show in January or February...Marilyn Van Derbur, the current Miss America, will play the organ when Ed Murrow's "Person to Person" comes visiting Nov. 1—Miss Van Derbur learned to play the instrument in her father's funeral parlor in Denver.

Those reports that Patti Page's "Big Record" show may shift from New York to Hollywood are giving musical director Vic Schoen the mumbles. He sold his West Coast "dream house" to take on the CBS-TV assignment and recently, started pouring money into a new home in Great Neck, N.Y.

Where to Put New Bathroom

Where to put a new bathroom or powder room is always a problem that should get careful consideration in planning a new house or in modernizing an existing house.

Various factors should be eighed in reaching a final decision on where to put the bathroom or powder room.

One of the important considerations is accessibility, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

This involves the question of who is going to use the room. Is it primarily for guests? Then it should be near their bedrooms, in the case of a bathroom. If a powder room, it should be near the living room or entrance to the house. Guests should not have to go through other rooms to reach a powder room.

On the other hand, if the bathroom is primarily for members of the family, it should be near the kitchen, in the case of a powder room or near the family bedrooms, if it is a bathroom.

The second consideration in planning the location of a bathroom or bedroom is economy. Usually this is not as important a consideration as convenience, but it may be a factor. What you are trying to avoid is long runs of supply pipe and waste pipe which result if the bathrooms are widely separated or if the powder room cannot be placed near or below a bathroom.

The expert in this case as in everything else pertaining to the design and installation of a bathroom or powder room is your plumbing contractor. He will help you in achieving a satisfactory compromise between conveneince and economy.

Miniature Wool Insulation Is Heat-Saving

If you could examine an Eskimo's igloo you'd discover a really economical heating system in operation. The igloo is kept warm by body heat and a small oil lamp.

The igloo's thick dome of snow is a good insulator. It seals in the heat given off by the oil lamp and the people and keeps the chill Arctic winds out. The entrance slopes down through the igloo floor before emerging outside. Since warm air rises, heat doesn't escape along this route.

Home-owners can't very well pack their walls and attic floors with snow or ice cubes, but they can install an even more efficient type of insulation — modern mineral wool. This insulation can be blown into walls and ceilings by experienced contractors with pneumatic equipment, or batts and blankets of mineral wool can be installed in accessible areas by the home-owner.

Insulating engineers recommend at least a 4-inch thickness of insulation in ceilings and 3 inches in walls. All walls and ceilings exposed to winter cold on one side and warmed on the other should be insulated.

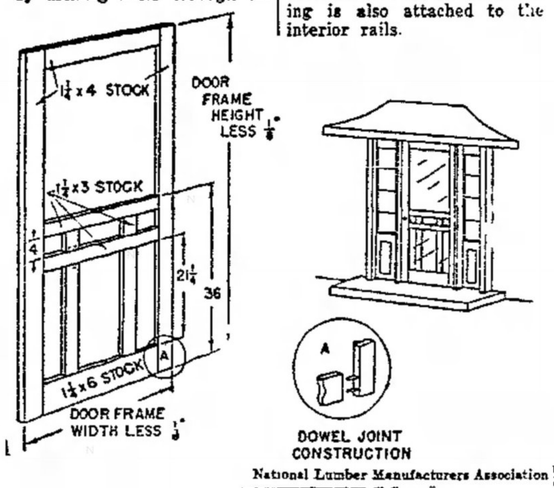
HERE'S HOW . . .

MAKE A STORM DOOR

A storm door can be made of nominal 1¼-inch thick lumber covered with a vinyl plastic sheet.

Cut the uprights or stiles and the rails to a length of ⅛-inch shorter than the door frame. Dowel joint construction consists of 2 dowel pins at each joint as shown in diagram "A." To make the joint, drill holes ⅜-inch in diameter 2 inches deep for all but the interior rail and stile joints. Make the interior joints by drilling holes through the lower rail extending them 1¼ inches into the ends of the adjoining stiles as shown. Next, holes 1¼ inches deep are drilled in the upper rail and top end of the upper stiles. Cut the dowel pins for the lower rail joints 4⅝ inches long; for the upper rail joint, 2 inches long.

Assemble the door. Cut the plastic covering large enough so that it can be attached with ½-inch molding on the outer face of the frame. Molding is also attached to the interior rails.



Fix Up Old Home Before Selling It

If you want to sell an older home in a hurry, see that it puts its best foot forward — fix it up before prospects start ringing the bell.

This is the advice of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers. Specifically, the Institute points out that homes with dingy, unattractive bathrooms in need of modernization are hard to sell.

With an FHA home improvement loan calling for small easy-to make monthly payments, it's no strain on the family budget to modernize an out-of-date bathroom, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

The prescription is simple — have a plumbing contractor remove the old fixtures, replacing them with a matched ensemble of new fixtures in color. Here is the color palette you can choose from — blue, green, yellow, pink, ivory, suntan, gray or red.

Change the floor and wall treatment when you change from old to new fixtures, the Bureau advises. You'll want a completely different bathroom setting to show off the new fixtures to full advantage.

Be sure to include a roomy medicine cabinet and plenty of accessories — towel racks, robe hooks, soap dishes and tumbler holders, tissue dispensers — for convenience.

Do these things, and you'll have a new bathroom that will be the envy of friends and neighbors, the Bureau adds.

A school board in Memphis, Tenn. saved $15,000 by choosing a lamella wood roof for a gymnasium, according to the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

A lamella roof is a curved roof framed by a system of intersecting arches made up of short segments of lumber fastened at their intersections.

Builders have a phrase for that something about a house-for-sale that makes the prospective buyer want to park his car and take a closer look. It's called "curb appeal."

Many builders of quality houses use attractive wood fencing and entrance courts to give a house an individualized "come hither" look.

"Old Ironsides," the American frigate that won her nickname because British shot failed to penetrate her sides in the War of 1812, was built of oak, cedar and pine.

Tip for Clogged Bath Showerhead

If water comes from your bathroom shower in a stream instead of a spray, chances are your showerhead is just clogged with mineral deposits.

Simply remove its face, free the holes with a coarse needle or wire, and clean the back surface. Then, if the water still won't come out in a spray, it's time to order the new showerhead.

One Service Call A Year for Oil Burner

One service call a year for the oil burner.

This is the goal of the oil heating industry, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

This goal is readily attainable in the case of the oil burners installed within recent years, the Bureau points out.

The latest model oil burners, produced and installed in recent years, are so constructed that the causes for oil burner service experienced previously have been almost completely eliminated.

More positive ignition, better refined fuel oils, more dependable controls, and more experienced service technique have all been responsible for cutting down the number of service calls.

In calling attention to what it has done to prolong the life of its equipment, the oil heating industry stresses the responsibility of the owner.

This is chiefly in connection with the annual servicing and cleaning of the oil burner, the Bureau says.

The burner and its related equipment are utilized in the average installation between seven and eight months out of the year. In many thousands of installations they are used all 12 months to produce heat and domestic hot water.

Any piece of machinery that performs such a vital service should be carefully examined, cleaned, and adjusted at least once every year by a competent oil burner service man.

Easy Project for Home Handyman

An easy project for a home handyman is application of wood mouldings to a room to carry out special decorative effects. Mouldings can be used to add design to plain fireplaces and to form wall patterns suggestive of a picture frame to set off prize pieces of furniture. Or, they may be applied to make a room look longer or higher.

Two and a half tons of glue and 137 tons of lumber went into the 12 laminated wood arches that frame the roof of a new sports arena at Commac, Long Island. The arches provide a clear span of 205 feet at a peak height of 5 feet.

Check Sheathing Used in Homes

Home buyers can get a good idea of the strength and stiffness of the walls of a house by checking the kind of sheathing used in its construction. Strength is a measure of the ability of a wall to stand up against a load, such as a high wind, without collapsing. Stiffness is the resistance of a wall to bending under loads which may cause trouble like plaster cracking.

Repeated tests of the Forest Products Laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture have shown that wood has greater strength and stiffness than other sheathing materials.

Richly grained woods are featured in the new trend to elegance in home furnishings.

Hardwood Floor Variety Available

"Floors are available in package form, unfinished or prefinished. Prefinishing has eliminated guesswork and a family can choose a floor wth the discrimination with which they might shop for drapery fabric; the color and pattern possibilities are readily discernible. In the case of unfinished flooring, in addition to the natural wood tone, almost any color can be created with stain."

When selecting from among the various styles of hardwood flooring, the magazine added, "the stamp of the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Association, which has set precise industry standards, can be a source of confidence."
